KUROKI IS PUSHING FORWARD

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

St. Petersburg, June 28.—The emperor has received the following dispatch from Gen. Kuropatkin, dated Liao-Yang, June 27:

"The Japanese attacked our forces occupying Mo-Tien, Fen-Shui and Ta passes, June 26. Our infantry and cavalry retreated, persuaded that the advancing divisions of the Japanese which were operating against each of the three passes were stronger than our detachments. In the attack on Ta pass the Japanese guards, besides other regiments, participated. The Japanese made a frontal and flank attack in considerable force on both sides of this position. The Japanese troops occupied Fen-Shui and Mo-Tien passes during the morning of June 27.

"Our forces, which retreated from Fen-Shui pass, were attacked by small detachments of Japanese. They were, however, easily repulsed.

Japanese Moved On.

"After pushing back our advance guard during the evening of June 26 from Vandiapudze (on the Siu-Yen-Hai-Cheng road), to Ta pass, the Japanese continued their advance this morning against our position in a defile. For some time the attack of the Japanese infantry brigade was repelled. Three battalions were engaged in the frontal attack, but being menaced by other troops engaged in a flanking movement, our forces retreated.

"Reconnoitering parties report that one portion of the southern Japanese army is moving northeastward with the intention of joining Gen. Kuroki's force.

"At noon today our cavalry was hotly engaged near Seu-Yen-Chen.

"All the reports of the last few days state that the forces of Japan arrayed against our Manchurian army consist of eight or nine infantry divisions and several brigades of reserves, which also occupied positions in the fighting line."

Mo-Tien pass and Fen-Shui pass are about due east of Liao-Yang. Ta pass is midway between and north of Mo-Tien and Fen-Shui passes and is between Liao-Yang and Mukden, and about 75 miles from the railroad connecting Liao-Yang and Mukden. It will thus be seen that the Japanese forces which have occupied the passes mentioned are turning the left flank of the Russian position at Liao-Yang and are threatening the railroad connecting Liao-Yang and Mukden.

Kuropatkin to Retreat North.

The Associated Press is informed on good authority that Gen. Kuropatkin has decided to withdraw northward. This move gives the Russians the advantage of being nearer their base of supplies and places the Japanese at the disadvantage of having longer lines of communication. It is pointed out that Kuropatkin no longer prevents a junction of the enemy's forces by remaining at To-Tohe-Kiao, as he might thereby imperil the safety of his own troops, as the desperate character of the fighting at Ta pass and Fen-Shui pass June 27 shows the Japanese are in strong force uncomfortably near the Russian flank.

News from the Port Arthur squadron is eagerly awaited. The city is full of rumors, chiefly based on foreign telegrams. A report that Rear Admiral Withoft, in command of the naval forces at Port Arthur, sailed off after giving battle to the Japanese receives the most credence. Withoft is known to have full authority to leave Port Arthur if he deems advisable, and he possibly preferred not risking a return to the harbor, which might again be blocked, preventing his egress at a critical moment. Consequently, Withoft may now be steaming to join the Vladivostok cruisers. The minister of marine

STORM SWEEPS THIS SECTION

Whole Family Reported to Have Perished in Cloudburst at Oakdale.

HOUSES SWEPT AWAY

Many Horses and Cattle Are Drowned—Crops Throughout Robb Valley Ruined.

FLOOD TAKES BRIDGES ALSO

In the big storm which swept over this section yesterday several persons are reported to have perished, horses, cattle and chickens in large numbers were drowned, and houses were swept from their foundations, causing thousands of dollars of damage. Just previous to the bursting of the storm of rain and lightning a large portion of this section was enveloped in midnight darkness and all traffic was interrupted.

At Tangor, two miles from McDonald, and at Oakkdale, cloudbursts are reported to have occurred during the storm and a family named Cole is said to have perished in the flood at Oakdale. The report could not be confirmed late last night owing to the telephone and telegraphic communications having been cut off with the two towns.

In the cloudburst over Robb valley in which Tangor is located, houses were knocked down and bridges torn from their foundations and swept down through the valley by the rush of the water. The storm caused great damage in the towns of Sturgeon, Noblestown, Oakdale, Gregg, Iffley, Walker's Mills and the smaller hamlets all the way to Carnegie. Debris is piled all along the course taken by the flood in the valley.

McDonald's Losses Over $25,000.

In McDonald the damage to propetty is over $25,000, while the other towns lost much in property, live stock and farm products. The water rushed five feet deep through the streets of McDonald, flooding the cellars of houses and stores in the lower part of the borough.

The plant of the McDonald Outlook, with all its equipment, was carried from the foundations and deposited in the creek by the flood. The Pittsburgh bargain store lost several thousand dollars worth of merchandise, which was carried away on the flood. The hardware store of W. H. Young was also much damaged and the stock was ruined.

Others in McDonald who suffered loss from the storm are: Murchland Sisters, millinery and women's furnishings; W. T. Reed, S. W. Bennett and the Union News Company. Outlook, Barr, Lincoln and O'Hara streets were all inundated and one dwelling was seen floating down through McDonald on the flood. When the house struck the bridge leading from the railroad station to the town, the bridge gave way and the debris wrecked houses in its path.

In the Chartiers Valley.

Bridges at Noblestown and in Robb valley were washed away and the plant of the Forest Oil Company and the repair shops were submerged. The bridge leading to Oakdale park was carried away by the water. In the Chartiers valley street cars were tied up for some hours by high water.

At Corks run a landslide buried the tracks and tied up the cars from McKees Rocks to Coraopolis for two hours. In Crafton, Noble avenue and Station street were blocked with mud and debris for two hours and the Ingram and Thornburg cars were put out of service. Several places in the vicinity of Oakwood park were struck by lightning.

At Carnegie and in Idlewood the streets in many places were under four feet of water. At midnight the car tracks to Carnegie and Heidelberg were still blocked with debris.

Within the space of about 15 minutes downtown Pittsburgh was treated to a wonderful experience in weather conditions yesterday. From daylight to midnight darkness, was a change that occurred inside a half-minute a few minutes before noon, when the entire lower sec-

Four Ways To Go.

BRUTAL ATTACK ON GIRL; NEGRO'S LIFE IS SOUGHT

Pretty School Teacher Terribly Maltreated in Maryland—Angry Crowd After Her Assailant, Who Is Taken to Keyser (W. Va.) Jail.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

MARTINSBURG, W. VA., June 28.—Miss Laura Kaneode, a pretty school teacher, aged 20, is in a serious condition as the result of a brutal attack by a negro, who was taken to the Keyser jail to prevent lynching.

Yesterday Miss Kaneode was driving toward Harpers Ferry along the river road in Maryland, when at a lonely spot about two miles west of Harpers Ferry she was suddenly confronted by a negro who grasped the horse's bridle and with a muttered command to make no noise pulled the girl from her seat and dragged her about 100 yards from the road to a clump of bushes. Whipping a knife from his pocket, the man threatened to kill the girl if she made an outcry. Nevertheless she screamed and the fiend struck her and, thrusting his clenched fist into her mouth, he seized her tongue, which he nearly tore from its roots. Her cheeks were torn and her tongue lacerated. At the same time she was choked, and for days will bear the marks of fingers on her neck.

The negro finally left her lying on the ground almost unconscious, and fled through the brush. When Miss Kaneode had partially revived she managed to reach a nearby house where she related what had taken place. Sheriff Billmier put bloodhounds on the trail and within an hour a thousand men and boys were scouring the woods. The police were instructed to arrest all negroes found on board Baltimore & Ohio freight trains.

Three were captured and held. Miss Kaneode came here today and positively identified the last one of the trio arrested. He gave his name as George Williams of Pittsburgh. It is believed he is really from Frederick, Md. It is known that he had been working at a quarry near the place where the crime was committed. He denied the charge. An angry crowd gathered and to prevent a lynching, the negro was taken within an hour to Hagerstown, Md., and from there to Keyser, W. Va., in a roundabout way. He will remain there for safe keeping until a special grand jury is summoned to try his case in Jefferson, Md. The whole community is so infuriated that if the negro had been kept here over night or taken to Jefferson, he certainly would have been lynched.

GIVES DETAILS OF BOODLE ACTS

Former St. Louis Delegate Confesses Whole Story to Circuit Attorney Folk.

WILL HELP PROSECUTION

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

St. Louis, June 28.—Charles A. Gutke, former member of the house of delegates, convicted on a charge of bribery and soon to be tried on another similar charge, today made a complete confession to Circuit Attorney Joseph W. Folk in which he declared that former Delegate Charles F. Kelly had told him he received $50,000 for going to Europe when his presence in St. Louis jeopardized men of prominence.

Kelley is also resting under one conviction and is soon to be tried in another case. Circuit Attorney Folk attaches great importance to the revelations which have been made by Gutke. He says that it opened up many new avenues of investigation and that it brought things to light which have not been heard of before involving the men higher up.

When he came out of the office of circuit attorney, Gutke handed out written extracts from his confession, of which the following is a part:

"I became a member of the house of delegates in 1897, and at once became a member of the combine of that body, which was an organization composed of 19 delegates for the purpose of selling legislation.

"The first bill that came up after I had become a member of the combine was 'The Suburban Loop bill.' The combine got $20,000 for their votes on this bill; on the 'Union Avenue' bill we got $18,000; on the 'Central Traction' bill, we got $75,000; on the 'Third Street Line' bill, we got $15,000; on the 'Lighting' bill, we got $47,500; on the 'Suburban' bill, we were to get $75,000, which is now in the safe deposit box in the Lincoln Trust Company, being placed there with the agreement that it should be turned over to us when the bill had been passed.

"While these are some of the largest bribes secured during my term of office, there were innumerable others ranging from $10,000 for switching bills to a few hundred dollars for some minor privileges. The bribe prices were fixed in meetings of the combine, the procedure being for some member to get up and move that a certain price be fixed on a certain bill. Other members would give their opinions, and a vote would be taken and the price receiving the highest number of votes would be adopted.

"Then we would select an agent of the combine, by ballot, to negotiate for and receive the money. This agent would distribute the money among us. There is hardly a corporation in the city of St. Louis of $250,000 and over that has not either been held up for bribery or brought official action from the corporate in the house of delegates.

"I acted as the agent of the combine in a number of these deals. In the Suburban deal I went with Kratz to Stock's house and was present when the agreement was made regarding the bribe of $60,000 for Kratz, which is now in a lock box in the Mississippi Valley Trust Company. I went with Charles Kratz and Carroll to the office of a prominent broker in the lighting deal, and there $20,000 was paid me by this broker to give the combine, and the promise was made then that $7,500 more would be paid."

Other details were given by Gutke, who said the "boodle" gang had planned to capture the circuit attorney's office at the next election.

GUFFEY KNOCKS M'CLELLAN BOOM

Says There Is Nothing in Story That He Is Supporting New York's Mayor.

GUARDED ABOUT PATTISON

Col. J. M. Guffey did not uncover his presidential candidate yesterday at the meeting of the local national delegates. He did say, however, that there was nothing in the story that he is supporting Mayor George B. McClellan of New York.

When asked about his friendliness to Judge A. B. Parker, the colonel was careful not to commit himself. He was also guarded in his utterances concerning the probable candidacy of ex-Gov. Robert E. Pattison of Pennsylvania. The inference was given that some consideration may be given the Philadelphian.

It has been decided that the preliminary caucus of the Pennsylvania delegation will be held at S. Louis at 10 o'clock, Monday morning. The meeting will be solely for the purpose of organization. The question of presidential preference will not be brought up at that time and may not be considered until Tuesday or Wednesday.

Ex-Gov. Pattison may be made chairman of the delegation, in case Col. Guffey should decide that he does not want the place. The caucus will confer a high honor upon him in his re-election as a member of the national committee. As Pennsylvania's representative on the committee on resolutions, there is a likelihood that George W. Guthrie will be chosen. Mr. Guthrie was a gold Democrat. Robert E. Wright of Allentown will also be considered for this assignment or for the credentials committee membership.

At the meeting yesterday nothing was done but arrange for the trip to St. Louis. The delegation will leave here Saturday night. After the conference George W. Guthrie, A. J. Barr and W. J. Brennen remained with Col. Guffey for about one hour. It is understood that they were made acquainted with his plans, and agreed that his scheme of campaign is correct.

When asked if there is any truth in the story that he is supporting Mayor McClellan, Col. Guffey replied:

"There is nothing in that report."

The Pattison candidacy was inquired about and the colonel said:

"I have not had an opportunity to talk with any of the Pennsylvania delegates except those from Allegheny county."

There is much reason for the belief that Pennsylvania will give the ex-governor a complimentary vote and if the opportunity presents itself make a hard fight to nominate him.

Col. Guffey denies that he had a conference in Washington with Senator Gorman of Maryland. He admits having talked with National Chairman J. K. Jones.

Samuel Patterson Badly Hurt.

Cobos Got All the Money.

MEXICO CITY, June 28.—Assistant Cashier Cobos of the Central bank has admitted his guilt and expressed regret that other bank employes were held, as he alone plundered the bank of about $470,000, he having abstracted $500,000 from the bank's receipts on May 20 and 21.

ST. LOUIS FORGETS EVEN HER FAIR

With Bated Breath Mound City Awaits Next Week's Harmony Meeting of Democrats.

DOVE OF PEACE IN HIDING

By CHESTER D. POTTER.
(From a Staff Correspondent.)
[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

St. Louis, Mo., June 28.—The greatest political handicap of the last two decades will be pulled off here next week. It will be Bryan against the field. Everyone looks for a battle royal. No one will be disappointed. The Nebraska dictator was recently here and looked over the China closet. He knows where every choice piece is located. Next week, unless he is permitted to dictate the presidential nominee and frame the platform, he will lower his horns, raise his tail and get busy. And the china will all be broken.

In anticipation of what is coming the Mound city is in a tremor of excitement. National Democratic conventions are never tame. This one will be a record-breaker. Harmony will have no place in the sessions. The Coliseum, in which the convention will be held, has a seating capacity of 10,840 people. This includes the 1,005 delegates. No national convention was ever convened which was representative of so many diverse and conflicting views as this one will be. Every delegate, every alternate, and the audience, that is that portion composed of Democrats will have chips on their shoulders and be ready to fight at the drop of the hat.

Even now, a week in advance of the beginning of actual hostilities, the air is surcharged with strife. The Bryan men are telling what they are going to do to the other fellows. The other fellows declare that Bryan is a demonetized nightmare of the past. But, and it seems probable, if Bryan can control more than one-third of the delegates he will be a nightmare of unusual interest. From out of the swirl of contradictory prediction but one definite fact is outlined.

Guffey for National Chairman.

That is that Col. James M. Guffey of Pittsburgh can receive the honor of being elected national chairman if he will accept. Col. Guffey is as strong in the west as in the east. Here the people are asking who he will support. They appear to think that the influence of Pennsylvanian will be pivotal. Friends of Bryan claim that Guffey will stand with them. Those against Bryan, and they are the followers of Parker, Cleveland, Gorman and Gray, assert that the oil king can be counted upon to support the conservative thought of Democracy. All say they do not enjoy Mr. Guffey's confidence.

In St. Louis are two men who are watching the stars. Both are in the public eye. Either would like to be nominated for president. One would take second place on the ticket. One is David R. Francis, president of the world's fair, whose friends fancy that, in the event of a prolonged deadlock, he might be acceptable as presidential nominee to both the conservative and radical wings of the party. Mr. Francis would not dodge this responsibility.

The other favorite son is Circuit Attorney Joseph W. Folk. Away from home Mr. Folk is regarded as the foremost reformer of the age. His success in prosecuting the "boodlers" has been remarkable. Those familiar with the history of his fight say that he is the luckiest man who ever lived. Even Folk it is stated, at the outset of the crusade, had no hope of convicting any of the men charged. Fate played into his hands. When he had apparently exhausted every resource with-

RUB COMES ON THE PLATFORM

Bryan Will Have Plenty of Trouble at St. Louis Convention.

READ OUT OF PARTY

Sound-Money Democrats Will Not Only Repudiate, but Denounce Free Silver.

HEARST NOT SURE OF ILLINOIS

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Chicago, June 28.—What shall be the financial plank in the Democratic platform is a question which is giving trouble to the conservative leaders, who desire a declaration which will indicate to the business interests of the country that the party has put behind its worst heresies. There will be a very strong element at St. Louis demanding that the convention not only refuse to ratify the Chicago and Kansas City platforms, but shall distinctly repudiate the Bryan money plank and declare for the gold standard.

William J. Bryan is going to the convention with many fights on his hands, and one of them will be to insist on the reaffirmation of the Chicago and Kansas City financial planks. It goes without saying that he will not succeed in this. The sentiment of the party is overwhelmingly against him.

Here is the embarrassment which confronts the party on the money question. The national leaders of the conservatives want to get all the sound-money element back in line for the ticket. They also want to hold the free-silver and "free-everything" element. Many of them are strongly in favor of doing nothing at all but vote down Mr. Bryan's reaffirming plank in the committee on resolutions.

Tillman Will Be Heard From.

Senator Tillman is understood to favor such action. He is a delegate-at-large and will no doubt represent his state on the committee on resolutions. Senators Daniel and Martin of Virginia, and even Senator Gorman of Maryland, are believed to take the same view. Senator Gorman desires to be chairman of the resolutions committee. Many gold-standard Democrats will go to the convention and tell the delegates that such a step would be most unwise. It would not insure any more votes from the Bryan wing of the party, nor would it inspire confidence among the business men.

There was great activity today among delegates from various states who met here to discuss matters bearing on the preliminaries to the convention. They met here the leaders of the Illinois delegation at the state headquarters, in the Sherman house.

Former Mayor John P. Hopkins, the chairman of the Illinois state committee and a delegate-at-large, said:

"You can depend on it that the delegates from Illinois, Minnesota, Michigan, Indiana and Wisconsin will act together in all matters outside of candidate for president. As to that, I can only say that Illinois is instructed for Mr. Hearst and at least 40 of the 54 Illinois votes are openly opposed to his nomination. Michigan will be for Parker. Wisconsin is for Wall on the first ballot. Indiana is instructed for Parker. Minnesota, I understand, is for Parker.

Reads Bryan Out of Party.

We will go into no combination which will injure Judge Parker. We will certainly go into none that includes the followers of Mr. Bryan. Mr. Bryan is going to discover at St. Louis just where he stands in the Democratic party. We will find that he stands outside of it. He is counting, I am told, on 270 votes, which he professes to control through himself and Mr. Hearst. Well, 54 of these are from Illinois. Mr. Hearst may get them on the first ballot, or he may not. The delegation will certainly vote as a unit against Mr. Bryan on all things he may suggest.

The fight from Illinois promises to be as great a point of interest at St. Louis as the Wisconsin contest was in the Republican national convention. The Hearst leaders, with the assistance of Mayor Harrison of Chicago, have decided to contest the seats of two of the delegates-at-large. The men they will contest are John P. Hopkins and Benjamin T. Gable, and they want the Hearst candidates who were defeated at Springfield, E. F. Dunne and Silas Cook, substituted. The Hearst leaders in the papers of contest claim that Messrs. Dunne and Cook were the choice of the delegates, but that they were denied a roll call and that the chair by gavel rule declared Hopkins and Cable elected. Both former Mayor Hopkins and Mr. Cable were sound money Democrats in 1896 and they are also opposing Mr. Hearst this time.

This contest is helping Judge Parker. It was noticed today that Mr. Hopkins had ceased his talk about the nomination of Mr. Cleveland. He spoke strongly in favor of Judge Parker as the probable nominee of the convention and in a way that indicated he desires the help of the Parker men in the committee on credentials. He said that Cleveland would no doubt be the strongest candidate in Illinois, but the nomination of Judge Parker seemed to be a foregone conclusion.

ANTI-PARKER COMMITTEE WILL GO TO ST. LOUIS

NEW YORK, June 28.—Judge Seabury, who was directed by the anti-Parker convention, held here on June 20 to appoint a protesting committee of 25 to present to the Democratic convention at St. Louis the protest of the convention, has named the committee, which includes: Melvin G. Palliston of New York, C. B. Matthews of Buffalo, John E. Gaffney of Albany, J. G. Phelps Stokes of New York, Henry Gertke, Jr., of New York and J. S. Corbin of Gouverneur. The delegation, headed by Judge Seabury, will leave for St. Louis, Saturday morning. Headquarters will be opened by committee in Planters hotel, St. Louis.

BLAME PLACED FOR DISASTER

Loss of Life on Slocum Charged to Carelessness of Owners.

CALL MATE A COWARD

Inspector Lundberg Also Given Share in Responsiblity for One Thousand Deaths.

CORONER ISSUES WARRANTS

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

New York, June 28.—For the deaths of more than 1,000 human beings on the Slocum the coroner's jury tonight returned to the court room after three hours and 40 minutes' deliberation, and rendered the following verdict:

"That the immense loss of life on the General Slocum was due to the misconduct of the directors of the Knickerbocker Steamboat Company.

"That Captain Van Schaick is criminally responsible.

"That Capt. Pease of the Grand Republic, as captain of the steamboat company's fleet, is criminally responsible in that he failed to properly equip the Slocum with fire apparatus.

"That Mate Flanagan acted in a cowardly manner.

"That the action of Inspector Lundberg should be brought to the attention of the federal authorities."

Coroner Berry has issued warrants for the arrest of the directors and officials of the Knickerbocker Steamboat Company. Inspector Lundberg and Mate Flanagan have been held in $1,000 bail each.

President Barnaby of the steamboat company company and Secretary Atkinson, who have been central figures during the investigation, left the court room when Coroner Berry charged the jury and it went out for its deliberations. They had not returned up to the time Coroner Berry was ready to close court, at 9 o'clock tonight, and although their attorneys declared they would guarantee to have the defendants in court in the morning, the coroner said they must be produced forthwith or he would send detectives after them. Warrants were then placed in the hands of detectives, and Coroner Berry declared he would hold the court open all night to await the arrival of every one of the men named.

The sweeping verdict of the jury was a blow to the attorneys for the defense, who were confident that, while the directors might be scored, they would not be charged with manslaughter.

When the jury went out, at 5 o'clock, a tilt between one of the jurymen and Former Judge Julius Mayer, who appeared for Inspector Lundberg, showed plainly the disposition of the men in whose hands rested the punishment for the negligence which resulted in the disaster.

The innumerable questions they had asked during the day, and some of the evidence these questions had brought out against the men named, indicated that there could be no escape for them.

After the jury had been dismissed the small crowd that still remained in the Second Battery armory gathered around its members and congratulated them.

The jurors, to a man, declared that at no time had there been any doubt in their minds about naming the directors, and that most of the time spent in deliberation was given over to an effort to frame suggestions for the United States department of commerce, so that in future the lives of those who trust themselves on excursion boats may be safeguarded.

Fifty thousand dollars was appropriated by the aldermen today to meet the expense of burying the unidentified bodies of the victims of the Slocum disaster and to meet the expenses of the health and police departments, incurred while recovering bodies.

MISS HELEN KELLER IS GRADUATED WITH HONORS

Receives Degree of A. B. at Radcliff Amidst Applause of Classmates.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., June 28.—Amid the applause of her classmates, the largest in the history of Radcliffe college, Miss Helen Keller, the famous deaf, dumb and blind girl, was graduated today with honors and degree of A. B.

Miss Keller did not take a prominent part in the program but sat in cap and gown with the other seniors until her turn to file past President Briggs and receive her degree. Only once was a reference made to her in the address, when President Briggs said:

"At Radcliffe shall the eyes of the blind be opened and the ears of the deaf be unstopped."

With the aid of her companion and teacher, Miss Sullivan, who has been ears and eyes for her, Miss Keller has pursued her studies and achieved honors that, under such circumstances, are far greater than most students have ever been able to obtain. Miss Keller uses the Braile system of interpreting the words of Miss Sullivan by touching her lips with the tips of the fingers.

Dan Emmett Dead.

COLUMBUS, O., June 28.—A telephone message received tonight from Mt. Vernon, O., announced the sudden death in that city of Dan Emmett, the old-time minstrel, and famous as the composer of "Dixie." Emmett was about 80 years old. His last public appearance was made four years ago, when he toured the states with a minstrel company.

Attorney Watkins Nominated.

SCRANTON, PA., June 28.—Attorney James H. Watkins of Tarlor was today nominated by the Republicans of the Third Lackawanna district for the vacancy caused by the death of Representative [illegible] James.

NOT A PARTY TO ANTI-PARKER PLOT

Gorman Says the Conferences Were for Purpose of Organizing Convention.

JONES FINALLY WOKE UP

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Room 10, Postal Building. WASHINGTON, D. C., June 28.

Senator Gorman of Maryland says it is not true. He denies that he is a party to the plot to prevent the nomination of Judge Parker for president on the Democratic ticket. He does not say he will turn the Maryland delegation over to Parker, nor does he deny that he would like to see some other leading Democrat head the ticket. But he declares that the meeting held in this city yesterday by himself, Col. J. M. Guffey of Pittsburgh, ex-Senator James Smith of New Jersey, John R. McLean of Ohio, ex-Senator James K. Jones of Arkansas, and a few others, was for the purpose of discussing the organization of the St. Louis convention, merely that and nothing more.

When Senator Gorman was asked as to the truth of the reports that he and his associates who conferred yesterday were canvassing the strength of the anti-Parker forces and planning to spring a dark horse that would stampede the convention, he dictated the following statement:

The persistence and regularity with which statements of this character have recently appeared would seem to indicate a studied effort to misrepresent me. The fact is that all the conferences I have attended have related solely to the proper organization of the convention, which it is the duty of members of the national committee to consider.

Not a Party to the Plot.

So far as I am concerned, I have not been a party to any arrangement for effecting a combination to obstruct the efforts of any candidate for the nomination. The Maryland delegates have not yet determined the course they will pursue in regard to the candidates at St. Louis, and will probably not reach any conclusion until after their arrival at St. Louis and after an opportunity to confer with the delegates from other states.

As for the two-thirds rule, it is necessary wherever there is a contest in Democratic conventions, but in no case since the adoption of the two-thirds rule, has any nomination been made except where the candidate had a clear and undoubted majority of the convention, and where that majority is composed of delegates from Democratic states. They have always controlled the convention. I have perfect confidence that the convention will adopt a sound, conservative platform and nominate a ticket which will command the confidence of the country.

There are many loopholes to Senator Gorman's statement, which leave room for the belief that he is fully cognizant of the plans that are known to be on foot to down Judge Parker. But his statement that yesterday was given to a discussion of the organization of the convention is very plausible. As a matter of fact, something had to be done and done quickly. The Democratic national committee is a brainy organization and has entered into the arrangements for the St. Louis convention half heartedly.

Woke Up Jones.

Chairman Jones, who has been quietly flirting with the Hearst movement, saw that the wind on that side was cold, he has been "soldering" all along. Suddenly some of the leaders of the party, conservative leaders, awoke to the fact that with the convention but a week away, the temporary and permanent chairmen of the convention had not yet been decided upon. Other matters had been neglected, but the organization was an important one that could no longer be put off.

When Chairman Jones came into the conference yesterday, he was informed that he must get busy immediately. He was told in no uncertain tone that it was up to him to fix up these preliminaries, and that he must do it now. He meekly acquiesced. Today it is announced that Representative Sherman of Mississippi seems to be the temporary chairman and will make the keynote speech. A man was wanted for this position who could make a plausible reply to the masterful oration of ex-Secretary Root at Chicago, and Williams is believed to be the best man available. That speech of Mr. Root's has stirred up the Democrats wonderfully and they want to do something to counteract its effect if possible.

Senator Joseph Bailey of Texas has been spoken of for permanent chairman, and he would be a good one for the place, except that he is not correctly located geographically. They want a northern Democrat for this place and Chairman Jones has promised to find one right away.

As to the platform, it will be forthcoming when the committee on resolutions meets. It is reported that Senator Gorman has been working on the document, and will have it ready to submit when it is wanted, though there is little hope of having it adopted without a good deal of editing. If Mr. Gorman goes to the convention he will be a member of the committee on resolutions, and will, no doubt, be chairman of it.

STORM SWEEPS OVER THIS SECTION

tion of the city was enveloped in a low, black cloud. While the big crowds of employes of the office buildings and stores were pouring into the streets in search of noonday lunch, people were kept busy dodging wagons and traction cars and apologizing to each other because of frequent and unavoidable collisions.

Strange Conditions in Pittsburgh.

The coming of the cloud was followed by a strong wind and a heavy downpour of rain, which soon scattered the black pall, drenched the people on the streets and brought daylight back again. During the darkness lights were turned on in all the buildings and streets, but in spite of this assistance the upper stories of the high buildings were shut out from view.

The rainfall, which was the heaviest experienced in this vicinity so far this year, measured in Pittsburgh 2.2 inches, while in the country districts the downpour resembled a cloudburst. The storm badly tangled up the electric wires in the streets, resulting in crossed wires and frequent calls to the engine companies for assistance in extinguishing small blazes.

During the evening the Philadelphia Company was besieged with telephone calls from the East End, Oakland and West End districts for lights. Residents of these sections were without electric light for some time because of circuits being burned out by the tangling up of light wires. Many workmen were sent out to untangle the wires and later in the evening the lights were again turned on.

Firemen Called Out Many Times.

During the evening the engine companies located downtown were called to extinguish a blaze caused by an electric converter on the building at Fifth avenue and Stevenson street, a blazing converter on the Mercy hospital, and another converter which took fire on the building at No. 2024 Fifth avenue. Sagging wires at Sixth street and Penn avenue and at the Lincoln avenue bridge, set fire to electric light poles and also to a tree at the bridge. A telephone pole at Fifth avenue and Pride street was also set afire by a ragging electric wire.

In Allegheny the firemen were called to put out a blaze caused by a converter burning out at Federal and Erie streets. No serious damage was done by the various fires.

TWO MEN DROWN AND TWO ESCAPE

Four Companions Upset a Skiff in Allegheny River in a Frolic.

OTHER DEATHS BY DROWNING

While returning from an outing at Ross Grove in a boat early yesterday morning four men were thrown into the Allegheny river near Aspinwall. Ernest Hallberg, aged 30, and Harry Hulstorm, about the same age, were drowned. Peter Uhlheim and Charles Tjerpe swam to the shore. The body of Hallberg was recovered. Uhlheim is under arrest at the Aspinwall lockup pending an investigation by the coroner. The men were painters on a new bridge near Brilliant station and lived in a shanty boat near their work. They made a trip to Ross Grove early Monday evening, and, after drinking considerably, started home. While in the middle of the river they started to rock the boat and it capsized.

The bodies of two unknown boys, one colored and the other white, about 15 years old, were found in the Monongahela river yesterday. It is believed the boys were drowned Sunday while bathing at lock No. 1.

William Strothers, aged 12, of 2703 Spring alley, who was drowned in the Allegheny river at the foot of Twenty-sixth street Monday, was found last night near that place.

John Finnegan, a watchman on the dredge of the Iron City Sand Company, was suffocated while sleeping in his berth last night. His berth was over the engine room, and it is supposed the heat in the close compartment killed him.

G. S. Jones, aged 34, of West Elizabeth, and Theodore Collins, aged 24, of Elizabeth, were killed by a train on the tracks of the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston railroad near Patterson station early yesterday morning.

Terrence Meenen, aged 48, of 2718 Sarah street, committed suicide early yesterday by drinking a quantity of phenol. He was despondent over the loss of a leg some time ago, which prevented him from performing skilled labor. He was formerly a mill man and his leg was caught in the machinery.

The body of Marian C. Barnes, aged 20, of 542 Second avenue, was found in the Monongahela river yesterday morning at the Fort Pitt bridge. It is believed she is the woman who jumped from the new Tenth street bridge early Monday morning.

The body of Sigmond Copez, aged 23, of Elizabeth, was found in the Monongahela river yesterday. The man was drowned while bathing.

This was a day of confession. Nothing succeeds like success. Folk has had success. This is admitted by even those who have all along claimed that the circuit attorney was making a grandstand play for political purposes. Unless the national convention takes care of Mr. Folk next week he will, July 19, be nominated for governor. He will also be elected. But notwithstanding this certainty, Mr. Folk would prefer the honor of being vice presidential nominee, even though he now realizes that the Democratic national ticket will be defeated next November.

The general committee on arrangements will meet Saturday morning at 10 o'clock to select a temporary chairman for the convention. John Sharp Williams of Mississippi seems to be favored by the conservatives. The Bryan people are backing Judge W. H. Barkworth of Michigan. The Michigan delegation is uninstructed. For this reason the Bryan people are urging Barkworth's selection. While denying that they have a string on him, they say that he occupies a neutral position. The anti-Bryan faction regard this "neutrality" with suspicion.

The national committee will meet July 4. There are quite a number of contests. The most important is that of Illinois, which will involve the entire state delegation and have to be fought out on the floor of the convention. The first six Pennsylvania districts will furnish contests filed by Eugene Bonniwell, chairman of the Independence party. This feature will receive little attention and be settled in the committee on credentials. The Independence party, having been turned down by the Democratic state convention of Pennsylvania, will have no standing here. The other contests are those from the District of Columbia and Ohio.

Bryan Out for Blood.

Mr. Bryan's closest friend, who would not permit his name to be used, thus defines the position of the twice-defeated leader:

"Mr. Bryan is fighting for a principle. He has kept his connections open. There is no danger of his being cut off from his base of supplies, the people, and he is in a position, if he does not get fair treatment here, to refuse to abide by the decision reached and organize a new party which will be governed by the principles which he holds and which in his opinion are entertained by the true Democracy. While still believing in the principle of 16 to 1, Mr. Bryan will not demand that it be made a part of the platform. He will demand, however, that there shall be a strong declaration against the dominance, by Wall street and the corporations, of the party's policy. He will fight to the last ditch the nomination of Judge Parker, Grover Cleveland, Judge Gray or any man to them associate. In the east Hearst would be his favorite, or McClellan, if his eligibility could be sustained. I think either Mr. Francis or Mr. Folk would suit Mr. Bryan, but his concern is not so much that of candidates as that of principle. His battle will be waged against the money power and the extension of corporate influence in national, state and municipal legislation."

This is to be Bryan's keynote. As in 1900, and again in 1900, he will work the "cross of gold and crown of thorns" bogie, seek to array labor against capital, class against class, and by his socialistic and anarchistic utterances create as much disorder and unrest as is possible.

INGOMAR WINS AGAIN.

Time Allowance Places American Yacht Ahead of Meteor and Hamburg.

KIEL, June 28.—The result of today's Kiel-Eckernfoerde race was another victory for the Ingomar, time allowance giving the American yacht the prize, though the Metor III. and the Hamburg finished ahead. The Meteor III. was second.

The American built schooner Navahoe, owned by George W. Watjens of Germany, was first in class B cruisers.

At a banquet given by Prince Henry, King Edward sat between Emperor William and Crown Prince Frederick William, with Prince Henry opposite.

King Edward and Emeperor William, on returning from the castle to their respective yachts, passed through a line of ships and boats, the crews of which held torches and Bengal lights. This double line of fire, with the gleaming searchlights playing on it, made a most effective spectacle.

Clearfield County Convention.

CLEARFIELD, PA., June 28.—(Special.)—At the Republican county convention, held this afternoon, Fred R. Scofield of Dubois and Harry Boulton of Houtzdale were nominated for assembly on the first ballot, as was Roll R. Thompson of Curwensville for prothonotary. The nomination of William T. DeHass of Dubois for register and recorder was made unanimous, his three opponents withdrawing. For county surveyor, County Chairman Thomas W. Moore of Curwensville and Hugh McCullough of Dubois were nominated by acclamation.

FILIPINOS NEED MORE RAILROADS

Commissioners Say There Are Many Chances for American Capital in the Far East.

PARTY LEAVES PITTSBURGH

"We need railroads in the Philippines more than anything else, and there is a great opportunity in our country for Americans to invest their capital in building them, for they are sure of a profit. The Philippine government has guaranteed that every railroad constructed shall receive 4 per cent on the investment. If the road does not earn this the government will pay it," said Guillermo Gomez, the youngest but one of the brightest and best posted members of the Filipino commission which left Pittsburgh last night.

Senor Gomez is only 24 years of age, but holds the position of secretary to the collector of customs of Iloilo, and is an expert accountant. There is no member of the commission who speaks English more fluently, and last night he talked interestingly of affairs in his country.

"The territory of the Philippine islands is larger than all of England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales together, and we have 8,000,000 of inhabitants. There are many chances for Americans to make investments with profit in the Philippines. We need machinery. It is a fact that while there is a great deal of fine timber in the Philippines, nearly all of the lumber to build our houses is brought from America. This is because we do not have the machinery to prepare the timber for use. There is only one saw mill or planing mill in Manila. There is not an American bank in Manila, and they would pay.

Good Salaries for Teachers.

"The public schools have become popular and are rapidly growing in numbers under American rule. There are many good positions for young American men and women as teachers. A teacher can make $100 a month and can live well on $35 a month. The English, Spanish and Chinese have all the commerce with our country.

"There are two political parties. The Federal party is the government party and advocates that the United States hold the Philippines permanently as an estate. The other party advocates independence in not more than 35 or 40 years. Almost all the prominent Filipinos expect to have self-government some day. There has never been any friction in Manila as the city is ruled by the national government. In other cities and in the provinces, the people elect the officers to rule over them.

"The people elect the councils in the towns and the councils elect the governor of the province. Outside of Manila, which is a city of 250,000 population, the people of the Philippines now have self-government to a great extent. The majority of the members of our commission are from the middle class, and are not Chinese descent. There are no Japanese among us, but a number of Spanish blood. The average Filipino is a mixture of Spanish, Malay and Chinese."

Filipinos Condemn Aguinaldo.

Senor Gomez is not an admirer of Aguinaldo and it is a singular fact that in condemning the Filipino who led the revolution against the Americans, he but reflects the sentiment of almost every member of the commission. "Our people do not make as much over Aguinaldo as do the people in this country. He is living in Manila, but I understand he is going to make a trip to the United States soon."

One of the few distinguished looking members of the Filipinos is Mariano Trias, who was second in command under Aguinaldo and is the son-in-law of Senor Pardo, a cabinet officer of the republic and also held the offices of secretary of justice and secretary of the treasury in Aguinaldo's cabinet. He was lieutenant general commanding the department of the south. By his popularity he was elected the first provincial governor of Cavite under American rule and still holds this position. It was at Cavite that Aguinaldo's revolution began.

General Trias is of medium stature, very erect, and has a dark brown complexion and the resolute countenance of a man accustomed to command. He does not speak English and his companions say that he talks but seldom even in his native speech.

Bade Hotel Guests Goodby.

Many of the guests of the Hotel Schenley mingled freely with the Filipinos during their two days' stay. Last night, when they were ready to take their departure, the Filipinos walked up to their new acquaintances, took off their hats, shook hands and bade them goodbye. The party boarded two special trolley cars at the Point and went down Fifth avenue to Wood street and Liberty avenue to the Union station, where they arrived about 10 o'clock. Pullman cars had been engaged for them and the party retired immediately on arriving at the station. They were headed to the regular train that left over the Cleveland & Pittsburgh road at midnight for Cleveland.

Not more than half of the Filipinos went on the boat excursion yesterday. The all-night ride on Sunday, from Buffalo, and the banquet Monday night, had tired them out and they slept late yesterday morning. This caused a delay of an hour in starting on the excursion. At 10 o'clock about 15 or 20 Filipinos, members of the council committee and a number of local guests boarded a special train at Union station and went to Ambridge to see the works of the American Bridge Company.

In returning to the train at Ambridge the party was drenched to the skin by the rain which came in a heavy downpour. The party went to the Davis Island dam. It was still raining hard when the dam was reached. There the party went on board the steamer Mayflower, which was waiting to carry them back up the Monongahela.

Filipinos Drank Little.

On board an elaborate luncheon was served, and an abundance of liquid refreshments, including claret punch, wines and three kinds of whiskies. The local members of the party partook much more freely of the liquors than did the Filipinos, who contented themselves with one or two drinks.

The boat stopped at the government lock at Port Perry and there the party took a special Pittsburgh & Lake Erie train for Demmler, where the projectile works of the Firth-Sterling Steel Company were seen. At Glassport the visitors saw the process of glass making and each one of the Filipinos was given a glass cane as a souvenir. The boat returned to Pittsburgh at 5 o'clock.

A small informal luncheon was given yesterday by Mrs. Oscar L. Kleber and Mrs. H. M. Wickersham of Murray Hill avenue, in honor of Senor Jamar and Senor Ulson, of the Filipino commission. Mrs. Wickersham's brother is in charge of the educational bureau at Luzon.

WANT GUILTY PUNISHED.

France and Germany Will Make a Demand on Haiti.

PARIS, June 28.—It is the French cruiser Jurien de la Graviere which has been ordered by the ministry of marine to proceed to Haiti, not the cruiser Troude, as previously reported. The officials here say the purpose is to insist on the punishment of those guilty of the outrage against M. Duprez, the French minister who was stoned by the palace guard at Port-au-Prince recently while driving with the minister of Germany, besides the apology already tendered.

BERLIN, June 28.—It is semi-officially stated that the satisfaction which Germany and France will demand from the government of Haiti for the attack on the respective ministers of those countries by the palace guards at Port-au-Prince will consist of the punishment of the guilty persons.

AIRSHIP BUILDER COMES TO GRIEF

E. J. Pennington, Arrested in St. Louis, Lived High While Sojourning Here.

MANY CREDITORS WAITING

E. J. Pennington, a local promoter of airship building, who is being looked for by numerous impatient creditors, is no longer a candidate for honors in the role of an aerial navigator. His docks collapsed, his "ship" is a wreck and the would-be Santos Dumont of Pittsburgh is under arrest in St. Louis on charges of conspiracy and fraud made before Police Magistrate Stewart of this city. Requisition papers are being prepared to bring the prisoner back here for trial.

The case is quite as mystifying as the subject of aerial navigation. Superintendent McQuaide of the local detective bureau, who sent the telegram to St. Louis which caused the arrest of Pennington, refuses to divulge the names of the prosecutors in the case. The detectives say he does this to prevent influential friends stepping in and settling the case out of court. In the meantime the airship wreck remains a hopeless derelict, which some people fear may seriously threaten the course of future investments on their sea of fortune, because they had no little amount tied up in the scheme, so it is alleged.

Has Been a Successful Promoter.

Pennington, which name is said to be an alias, is declared to be one of the most successful promoters in the country and to have been identified with some big enterprises in Pittsburgh. When arrested in St. Louis he gave his address as Mt. Vernon, Ill., but Sheriff Mequaide says that town is not his home. He left Pittsburgh last Thursday, after operating here for several weeks. The superintendent asserts that Pennington stopped at three of the leading hotels and lived high, but failed to pay his bills. He was accompanied by two women, one said to be his wife and the other his wife's mother.

Pennington never did things by halves. An airship ambition will not permit the intrusion of small ideas. Mrs. Pennington was ill and her husband arranged to have her taken to a Pittsburgh hospital where she was to undergo an operation. While she had her photograph taken in bed, her couch being festooned with smilax, palms and roses. When the picture was taken she had her mother, two nurses, the superintendent of the hospital and others in the group. Supt. McQuaide has the picture. The bill ran up by for it, the police say, and the florist, the photographer, a private nurse, a doctor and the hospital are all waiting for their money, it is said.

Wanted to Collect in Hospital.

But Mrs. Pennington was grateful. When she left the hospital she said that she wanted to give the institution a substantial donation, and induced the superintendent to sign a letter authorizing her to collect money for the charity. Then Pennington himself prepared the letter, and his wife started forth, saying her husband had many influential friends among business men and she was most sanguine of success. A director of the hospital learned of the scheme and ordered the letter to be recalled. The woman then went to the superintendent and asked that a note be signed at the bottom of the letter saying that the authority to collect was cancelled on that date. The detectives say that the note was torn up and the collections continued. The hospital has not received the money.

Pennington is said to have sold some of his stock to a girl and to have employed his wife and mother-in-law to canvass for his scheme. The whole quartet is wanted here, but only Pennington has been found. Descriptions of them were telegraphed to all the larger cities in the country. The man was apprehended in the world's fair. There he passed as a representative of a big airship company which expected to enter the contest at the exposition.

His Specialty Is Airships.

Pennington is not new in the airship business. It is his specialty, in England "Airship Pennington" is a famous character. It is said that he built a "ship" in London and sold it for nearly $500,000. The aerial craft was on the ways all right, but it wouldn't fly. In America he has traveled extensively, and, to the regret of New Yorkers, is said to have promoted several enterprises there of a similar nature.

The snow was still flying when he came to Pittsburgh. He wore a brown frock coat and an austere hat. He loitered much around the Hotel Duquesne and was pointed out as a person of particularly important personage. Then the warm days came and Pennington donned a straw headpiece, but still clung to his long, brown coat. He is a large man, and this incongruity of attire attracted quite as much comment as his more seasonable clothes had evoked admiration in cold weather.

The detectives were not ignorant of his presence. Detectives Fagan and Cole saw him one day and admired him. Pennington has no police record and the two sleuths told each other that he would be easy to get should he stumble from the straight and narrow path.

The bright sun of prosperity did not shine so effulgently upon him now. This was about two weeks ago. Less and less was seen of him around the downtown rialto. He was stopping at an obscure boarding house in Oakland. The rains and the hot sun took the gloss off his straw hat and his brown coat shrank into pathetic wrinkles. Then Pennington was gone.

PHIPPS MAKES CONCESSION.

Willing That His Wife Shall Have Custody of Children Part of the Time.

DENVER, June 28.—(Special.)—Realizing that Mrs. Phipps will not permanently part with her children, Lawrence C. Phipps is anxious to concede a point and allow his wife the cash, she also provided she will let him have the children 10 months in the year. It is the strength of this proposition Mrs. Phipps is said to be coming to Denver. Friends say that Mrs. Phipps will never agree to a compromise on these terms, but she considers the proposition as a step and might be the means of leading to another which will effect a compromise.

Attorney-General Knox has postponed his contemplated visit to Pittsburgh, in the interests of the Philippines, in order to close affairs in Washington in connection with the coronation ceremonials. He will be [illegible] these days, as July 1 and will be here immediately after the Fourth to consult with J. H. Reed and James S. Young [illegible] decided on tion. It is also taken for granted Judge J. Piatt Rodgers is still in Denver taking care of Mrs. Phipps' interests in that city, and will be guided in his movements by the policy which will be outlined by the conference following Mr. Reed's arrival in this city. Young, who had been east attending to the case, returned yesterday morning.

BIBLE SCHOOLS RALLY.

Members of Pittsburgh Association Raised $4,000 for Missions in Two Months.

Rally day of the Bible schools of the Pittsburgh Baptist association was observed in the Fourth Avenue Baptist church last evening by a large attendance. Reports were read showing the schools in the association had raised $4,000 for missions during the past two months. An illustrated lecture on "Chapel Cars" was given by Boston W. Smith.

The Bible school of the Fourth Avenue Baptist church was awarded the banner for the largest offerings on Children's day, which amounted to $607. The Duquesne Heights mission Bible school was awarded second prize. The Shady Avenue Baptist church school had contributed the second largest amount, $386, but awards were made based on the number of pupils in each school.

Star of Bethlehem Election.

DETROIT, MICH., June 28.—A two days' executive convention of the subordinate commandery of North America, order of the Star of Bethlehem, began tonight. H. Henry Blaisdell, St. Paul, grand commander, was elected grand captain general. Frank C. Bentley of Detroit captured grand vice commander. Mrs. Alice Lynch of Augusta, Me., was elected a member of the advisory council.

ELLIS SHOULD HAVE BEEN HELD

Consul-General Evans Thinks Close Questioning Would Have Been Advisable.

STATEMENT OF PITTSBURGHER

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, June 28.—The police of Paris and London, the embassy and Consul-General Evans have given up hope that F. Kent Loomis is alive. They are now convinced that he was pushed or fell from the boat but did not commit suicide. Mr. Evans says:

"I not only believe that Loomis is dead, but I am sure he never reached Plymouth. If he fell or was pushed overboard after the boat left Plymouth, when the deck was crowded, some one would have seen him. It was daylight in Plymouth at 3 o'clock. I am positive Loomis met death during the four hours or darkness between Lizard and Plymouth, when the deck was empty, the passengers below celebrating the run and all in a more or less convivial state. According to Ellis, Loomis was last seen on the upper deck by the open rail at 11 o'clock. Ellis keeps adding stories, each slightly different. I am by no means satisfied about Ellis. He should have been detained or questioned more closely until more was known."

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 28.—Francis B. Loomis, assistant secretary of state, still refuses to believe that his brother, Kent J. Loomis, who so mysteriously disappeared off the Kaiser Wilhelm II. has met with foul play. He retains his hope that his brother went ashore at Plymouth and is now somewhere in England. This is based largely on the statement of Gustave Flam, a Pittsburgher on the Kaiser Wilhelm, who sat next to Mr. Loomis on the trip across the Atlantic. Mr. Flam states positively that he saw Mr. Loomis leave the ship at Plymouth and go ashore. Assistant Secretary Loomis received today a dispatch from Gen. Horace Porter, United States ambassador at Paris, saying that he had interviewed Mr. Flam. Gen. Porter states that Flam is in a position of intelligence, seems very confident that he could not have been mistaken about seeing Mr. Loomis leave the ship at Plymouth.

Dispatches from London say that the records of the Kaiser Wilhelm II. are to be examined in following up the theory that young Mr. Loomis met with foul play. Secretary Loomis said tonight, however, that if this was being done it was entirely at the instance and on the responsibility of the London police. There is very little likelihood that W. Ellis, who was Mr. Loomis' traveling companion, will be called back from his trip to Abyssinia, pending the investigation of the disappearance.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., June 28.—One of the most disturbing links in the chain of sensations following the mysterious disappearance of F. Kent Loomis of this city, came today, in an alleged disclosure made by Fred Shauck. Shauck alleges that he met him in the metropolis on the day of Loomis' embarkation for his foreign journey. He says that Loomis took him into his confidence regarding an alleged deal he had made with W. H. Ellis, as the result of which Loomis was to get $60,000. Broad street. Through the deal, Shauck says, Ellis was to have the privilege of delivering the United States commercial treaty to King Menelik, a thing much coveted by Ellis, and Loomis was to ostensibly disappear for a few months for a consideration. Ellis was to have possession of the treaty while Loomis was to disembark at the first land touched, and remain obscurity until Ellis had dispensed of his mission. At the time of the interview Shauck says he warned Loomis against such a procedure but the latter said it meant $10,000 to him and as he was traveling merely as a private messenger and was not entrusted with any particularly inviolate diplomatic mission, and as this conduct would, therefore, contemplate no violation of trust on his part, he could well afford to sell his right to bear the treaty for the amount named.

Shauck says that Loomis stated that he would write to his wife regarding his plan, and that when he received a full report of his absence it would occasion no serious uneasiness. He would return as soon as the excitement occasioned by his absence had subsided, a cool $10,000 to the better. No confidence is given the story by those who know the missing man best.

Mrs. Loomis, to whom it was said the new missing man was to write regarding his alleged plan, has never received a slightest intimation that he did not intend to proceed to Abyssinia, and this in itself is thought to disprove all that the New Yorker has said. Mrs. Loomis said today that for her last husband she wished to write out of the story from the beginning to end. She refuses to give it the slightest credence and says it is as groundless as the story that her husband fell in love with Miss Marian Ivelle of Pittsburgh, the pretty chorus girl, who sought passage on the same vessel, the Kaiser Wilhelm II.

PARIS, June 28.—Gustave Flam has prepared a statement for the state department in which he says he saw F. Kent Loomis go aboard the tugboat at Plymouth, and also declares that the morning of the landing, between 1 and 2 o'clock, he saw Loomis walking the deck apparently in good health and humor. The statement adds certain details of a rather personal nature which it is desirable to withhold.

DESPERATE LEAPS MADE BY FUGITIVE

FRIGHTENED THE HELLO GIRLS

Edward Zang, a bantam pugilist of Allegheny, after several flights through the air from high windows and out of a street car was last night landed in jail by Constable Carey. Both men were fired out. Zang is charged with assault and battery by Pauline Weber before Alderman Kirby.

Constable Carey placed Zang under arrest near his home on Troy Hill, Allegheny, Saturday night. Zang persuaded the officer to take him to his home to secure bail. On pretense of changing his clothes Zang went to his room on the second story. Here he jumped out of the window and escaped.

Carey learned that Zang was stopping with friends in Third street, Allegheny, and last night he went there and found him. They started to Pittsburgh by way of the Ninth street bridge. At Penn avenue the officer and prisoner boarded an open Bloomfield car, the prisoner sitting next to the railing. At Ross and Diamond streets the constable got up to leave the car, expecting his prisoner would follow him. To his surprise Zang jumped over the railing into the street. The prisoner ran out Ross street to Sixth avenue, with the constable after him. The chase continued out Sixth to Wylie, to Washington street and to the boulevard. Here Zang hid and the constable returned to Grant and Seventh avenue. Zang, thinking he had evaded his pursuer, walked back to Grant street. To their surprise the men met at Seventh avenue and Grant street and the chase was renewed.

Zang made for Strawberry alley. He climbed over a fence into a yard, and rushing through the house, got back to Seventh avenue. He ran from there to a small court near the Hancock school. The officer was close on his heels. Zang rushed into an Italian's house in the court way and, picking up a table, threw it in the pathway of the constable and rushed upstairs. Rating a window in the second story, Zang leaped into the court. The constable retraced his steps downstairs and took up the chase again.

Zang ran out to Seventh avenue and from there to Bedford avenue, where he dodged into a house. Running out the back way, he found a court 20 feet below the grade of the yard. Zang took this leap. Constable Carey jumped too. Zang's speed again aided him, and he soon reached the P. & A. telephone office at Strawberry alley and Tunnel streets. He rushed up in the exchange office and was found by the constable among a lot of frightened girls. When he saw he was cornered, Zang held both hands over his head and said:

"I will give up."

FRANKLIN GIRL RUSHES TO LOVER

Special Train Used Portion of Way—Finds Him Well, Instead of Dying.

HER FRIENDS ARE MYSTIFIED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

FRANKLIN, PA., June 28.—Instead of witnessing the wedding of Miss Helen Barnett, of this city and J. Paul Bradshaw of New York, which was to have taken place at noon today, Franklin society was shocked and mystified to learn of its sudden postponement. Late last night a telegram was received from New York stating Mr. Bradshaw was ill and asking Miss Barnett to come on. A special train was secured and Miss Barnett, her mother and brothers were taken to Meadville, where they caught the through train on the Erie to New York. Inquiries by friends of the family today brought the news from Mr. Bradshaw's brother in New York that the young man had not been ill and furthermore that he had no intention of marrying within a year. This only added to the mystery and the most intimate friends of the Barnetts are unable to offer any explanation. Miss Barnett is a member of one of the leading families of Franklin and several ante-nuptial affairs had been given in her honor.

NEW YORK, June 28.—Believing that her fiance J. Paul Bradshaw, a New York broker, was dying, a telegram to that effect having been sent to her from this city, Miss Helen Barnett left her home at Franklin, Pa., on a special train, accompanied by her mother and brothers and, catching the regular train at Meadville, rushed to this city to be at the bedside of her supposed dying lover. It was not until after the Barnett party reached this city this afternoon that they learned they had been brought here by a spurious message, and that Bradshaw had not even been ill. The telegram was received at midnight by Miss Barnett. Her brother was awakened and he telephoned for a special train. This was boarded and reached Meadville, Pa., just in time to make a connection there for New York. J. Paul Bradshaw was found about the time Miss Barnett and her mother were leaving Franklin. He had called at his brother's brokerage office, No. 25 Broad street, to deny the report of his illness. "It is absolutely untrue," he said, "that I was sick. A friend told me he had read in the paper that a man of my name had been injured. Who sent the message I have no idea. If I knew I would at once place the matter in the hands of my attorney. I am indignant that any such thing should happened and Miss Barnett been given such a fright. I have questioned every friend and acquaintance who might be likely to send such a message, but they one and all deny all knowledge of it."

GEN. KUROPATKIN REPORTS DEFEAT

is anxiously expecting a further report, but none has been received up to the hour of filing this dispatch.

HAI-CHENG, June 28.—The war picture has quickly changed, thanks to Gen. Kuroki.

A heavy engagement is expected tomorrow near the village of Si-Mou-Cheng, 35 miles south, southeast of Hai-Cheng and an equal distance due east of the railway.

The Japanese have now passed Dalin hill and are 20 miles south of the Russian position.

Heavy Losses at Dalin Hill.

HAI-CHENG, June 28.—The total losses in the Dalin hill fight are not yet known. Eighty wounded have arrived here and on Sunday last a hospital train with 300 passed, going to Liao-Yang.

The fighting lasted the whole of June 27 and June 27 and the Japanese successively pushed the Russians from three positions occupying them with artillery as the defenders retired.

Wounded Russians, recounting the two days' fight, say that the Japanese again demonstrated their reliance on their artillery, and that they were greatly superior, both in number of men and in guns. On the second day of the fight they brought up a heavy battery which silenced the lighter Russian guns and caused severe loss. The Japanese artillery practice, however, was inaccurate, and as usual they several times shelled empty positions or shot over the Russian columns.

The fight started at dawn, 10 miles southwest of Dalin hill. A Russian rifle brigade held the position until noon in the face of heavy artillery fire, but the Russians were finally outflanked by infantry and cavalry, the Japanese actually getting a field battery in the rear of the Russian position. Then the brigade fell back.

The Dalin hill fight continued from 4 o'clock in the morning until dark. The Japanese worked furiously all night long and placed two batteries on the vacant Russian position.

The fighting was resumed at 3 a. m. on June 27. The Russians silenced the two Japanese batteries, but the Japanese brought up a train of big guns, and silenced the better Russian artillery, which was again running out of ammunition, and the Russians were once more forced to retire. The Japanese cavalry and infantry, threatening to surround the Russian position, forced a general retreat.

The Russians carried off all their guns and got revenge on the Japanese cavalry column, which was caught in close formation and was shelled with terrific effect, being forced to scatter.

Scouts Lose Horses.

MUKDEN, June 28.—Messengers, who arrived here today, announced that a scouting column from Korea, lost all its horses. The soldiers had to return on foot taking turns in carrying the sick and wounded. Their journey occupied 16 days and they were constantly followed by Japanese, with whom they had many skirmishes.

Viceroy Alexieff received the messengers and presented them with medals, after which they proceeded to Liao-Yang, it is believed with information for Gen. Kuropatkin.

Five Chinese robbers were executed here today.

There are constant skirmishes to the southward and a big battle is expected.

LIAO-YANG, June 28.—A dispatch to the Central News from Tokyo says it is reported that another Russian battleship has been discovered stranded off Tiger Rock. It is presumed she was wrecked while returning to Port Arthur after the recent naval engagement.

SEOUL, KOREA, June 28.—It is rumored here that the Russian Vladivostok squadron has again left that port.

NEW WABASH LINE'S OFFICIAL ROSTER IS AT LAST ANNOUNCED

J. W. Patterson Becomes Vice President of the Permanent Organization.

BLICKENSDERFER IS MANAGER

A full roster of the officials of the new Wabash line to Pittsburgh, the Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal Railway Company, was announced by President Joseph Ramsey, Jr., yesterday. By formal action of the directorate and by appointment, the following officials will direct the affairs of the new line:

President, J. Ramsey, Jr., St. Louis.
Vice president and chief engineer, J. W. Patterson, Pittsburgh.
Manager, Robert Blickensderfer, Cleveland.
Freight traffic manager, W. D. Holliday, Pittsburgh.
General passenger and ticket agent, C. S. Crane, St. Louis.
Superintendent, J. W. Patterson, Jr., Pittsburgh.
Superintendent of transportation, C. B. Adams, St. Louis.
Superintendent of dining and parlor-car service, Dwight Carson, Detroit.
Master mechanic, J. E. O'Hearne, Norwalk, O.
Master carbuilder, C. S. Morse, Toledo.
Superintendent of telegraph, J. E. Taussig, Canton, O.

The list contains no surprises to those familiar with the new road. The election of President Ramsey was a foregone conclusion, and the election of Mr. Patterson as vice president and chief engineer gives to the man who built the new line the permanent executive position he has so well won. The circular of appointment says of Mr. Patterson:

"He will have charge of and jurisdiction over all matters connected with the construction of branches, spurs and new terminals in and about Pittsburgh, and such other matters as may be placed under his charge."

New Officials Are Well Known.

Mr. Blickensderfer as "manager"—a title peculiar to Gould lines—will have full charge of the operative and maintenance departments. He is now also general manager of the Wheeling & Lake Erie, having held that position since 1899. Mr. Blickensderfer is one of the best-known railroad men in the central west. His authority extends from Toledo to Pittsburgh. For the present his headquarters remain in Cleveland, although it is expected that when matters are arranged finally his office will be in the new Wabash passenger terminal here.

J. W. Patterson, Jr., the first superintendent of the Wabash at Pittsburgh, has been a leading member of the engineering staff of the new line for several years. Just before that time he had been connected with the Wabash as assistant engineer at Decatur and division engineer at Peru, Ind. His training has been in both the construction and maintenance departments and well equips him for the duties he is about to take up. For several months past he has had charge of the final construction work of the new line and has made rapid progress with it. He is a native of Pittsburgh.

Strong Traffic Men Named.

Col. W. D. Holliday, who becomes freight traffic manager of the road, has been assistant general freight agent of the Wabash and the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroads at Pittsburgh for about three years. He has had a thorough experience in traffic matters, working up to the top after holding many other important offices. He resigned the position of assistant general freight agent of the Big Four at St. Louis to accept the Pittsburgh appointment in 1901.

J. W. PATTERSON, JR.,
The First Superintendent of the Wabash at Pittsburgh.

Charles S. Crane, who becomes general passenger and ticket agent, holds those positions on the Wabash proper. The head of the Wabash passenger department at Pittsburgh will continue to be Fred H. Tristram, assistant general passenger agent.

Messrs. Adams and Carson, superintendents of transportation and of dining and parlor-car service, respectively, are both connected with the Wabash system in those capacities. J. E. O'Hearne, master mechanic; C. S. Morse, master carbuilder, and J. E. Taussig, superintendent of telegraph, are Wheeling & Lake Erie officials now.

Nearly all of the new officials were in Pittsburgh yesterday making arrangements for the assumption of their offices on July 1 and the start of service Saturday next. The arrangements have progressed to a point which makes it certain that they will work smoothly from the time the first engine pulls its train out from the new station.

Detailed arrangements for the division operations were being made yesterday by Manager Blickensderfer and Superintendent Patterson. There are fully 25 applications for every position which will need to be filled, so that there is no shortage in the supply of trainmen, trackmen, etc.

President Ramsey remained here but the one day, leaving last evening for St. Louis headquarters. He will return Saturday morning and accompany the special party of city and county officials and business men who go as guests of the Wabash to St. Louis.

VALUATION IS $142,148,895

County Makes a Big Showing in the Personal Property Tax Assessment.

WAS A SLUMP IN PITTSBURGH

The value of personal property in this county, subject to a state tax, is $142,148,895. Two months ago the commissioner thought that there would be a big falling off this year over the valuation of 1903, when the total was $141,648,895. By hard work, the assessment has been increased $500,000.

The valuation for this year will bring in a revnue of $568,595 58. The money is collected by the county and paid to the state treasurer, who returns three-fourths of it. This will bring $426,446.68 into the treasury of the county. Until a recent decision of the supreme court, the county treasurer received one per cent for collecting the tax. This would have amounted to $5,685.95. The commission now goes into the treasury of the county.

J. M. Wilson has charge of the state tax bureau in the commissioner's office. When he started to make the assessment for the 1904 tax, he soon realized that the slump in the price of stocks and bonds would doubtless decrease the total valuation. For a time he thought the sum would be at least $5,000,000 below the assessment of 1903. In the Twenty-second ward alone there was a falling off of $11,000,000, making a total decrease in Pittsburgh of $4,000,000.

When it was found that a big decrease was probable, Mr. Wilson set to work to make a rigid assessment. Every effort was made to secure information about the people who had been withholding returns. As a result much taxable property was brought out of hiding and the total was near $500,000 ahead of last year.

The figures for the three cities are complete and they show these valuations: Pittsburgh, $89,149,000; Allegheny, $19,558,000; McKeesport, $2,036,000. These gains over last year were shown: Allegheny, $2,000,000; McKeesport, $250,000; boroughs, $2,000,000; townships, $1,500,000. The increase in the amount of revenue over 1903 will be about $2,000.

STOVE AND RANGE PLANTS WILL BE CONCENTRATED

Anshutz-Bradberry and Baldwin & Graham Works Will Be Enlarged for All Business.

Plans for a complete reorganization of the Pittsburgh Stove and Range Company, to operate the concern with greater economy and thereby increase its earnings, will be presented to the stockholders at a meeting to be held July 11.

By the time of the meeting all the details will be in shape for presentation by the officers, with their recommendations. There is little doubt, however, as to the action which is proposed being favored.

The plans contemplate concentrating all the manufacturing operations of the big concern in two plants—the Anshutz-Bradberry plant, in Preble avenue, Lower Allegheny, and the Baldwin & Graham plant, in New Castle. To these plants will be made the additions and extensions needed to meet the demands of the trade, and the centralizing will have the effect of allowing the same production with considerable saving.

The Rebecca street (Allegheny) plant has been sold to the Joseph Horne Company, and the DeHaven plant, in Preble avenue, to William Duff. The Blaski plant, in Robinson street, Allegheny, is being used by the company for its offices and for storage purposes. This plant will be retained.

When the company was formed, several years ago, it acquired nine of the leading stove and range concerns. For one reason or another it has not been a heavy earner, and it is proposed by the contemplated move to change this. The company has a large business and is well backed.

U. S. GYPSUM COMPANY HAS A RIVAL

Four Plaster Concerns Start New Plant to Produce Supply.

W. M. HOLMES IS PRESIDENT

In the formation of the Consumers' Gypsum Company of Port Clinton, O., backed in part by Pittsburgh capital, a step has been taken by four large plaster companies to obtain a supply of plaster of paris independent of the United States Gypsum Company.

The new company is capitalized at $100,000 and its president is W. M. Holmes, president of the Crown Wall Plaster Company, which has its plant at Braddock. The vice president is John W. Elcessor, general sales agent of the Crown company; the treasurer, O. P. Ferriman, of the Forrester Plaster Company, Cleveland, and the secretary, L. G. Powell, of the Fishack Plaster Company, Toledo, O. The three companies named above, with the Rock Plaster Company of Columbus, O., are the group which proposes to produce the raw materials independently of the combination.

The gypsum or plaster of paris production of the country is narrowly limited by reason of the few sections in which the beds of gypsum rock may be found. This rock is formed only where at some period there have been the proper elements subjected to great water pressure. There is one bed of the rock in New York state, with other beds in Kansas and Iowa and in the Dakotas. All of these beds are of comparatively small area and it was easy for the promoters of the gypsum combination to secure a monopoly of the output. There had been a plant at Port Clinton, O., between Sandusky and Toledo, for a number of years. About five years ago a second plant was established there. The action taken by the plaster companies now will bring a third plant to that section.

The Consumers company has secured about 60 acres of land underlaid with the deposit and will start at once the operating of a "calcining" plant which will have a capacity of 30,000 to 35,000 tons of gypsum a year. The four companies which control the new company will require from 15,000 to 20,000 tons of this and will sell the balance to the trade.

The process of obtaining gypsum begins with shaft mining. At Port Clinton the stratum is found at a depth of about 25 feet from the surface and is from five to seven feet thick. At the mine is erected a "calcining" plant. In this the rock is ground and ground to a powder and then roasted. The roasting frees the rock of the carbonic acid gas and moisture and prepares it for use. At the plant, when ready for the market, the commercial product is worth about $8 a ton. The freight rates are heavy, being about $2 a ton from Port Clinton, on the Lake Shore, to Pittsburgh.

Gypsum has come to be an article of prime necessity in ordinary building operations. Where only a few years ago plaster composed of lime and sand was used, now only plaster with gypsum as the foundation is admissible. It makes a far harder and more permanent plaster with much less trouble from cracking. In addition to its use for plastering in houses, there is a growing demand for gypsum in casts for molding and in glass houses, etc.

LAST MIDWEEK SERVICE IN THE SECOND CHURCH

The last Wednesday night services in a series of 45 years will be held in the Second Presbyterian church this evening, when Pastor S. Edward Young's Bible study will be preceded by remarks from former and present members of prominence. The final services in the church will be held next Sabbath morning and evening.

Refuse to Bury Its Wires.

Since the McKeesport ordinance for placing the wires under ground has been declared unconstitutional by the city solicitor, the Monongahela Light Company has refused to bury its wires. The company has purchased a lot of poles and it is said these will be erected throughout the city in an effort to shut our competition by the Altmyer company, which is equipping a plant to supply the city with light.

Bay Charged With Larceny.

Frank Greller, aged 19, of 5891 Ellsworth avenue, was arrested last night. He was seen coming out of a 5 and 10-cent store on Penn, near North Highland avenue, where he is employed, carrying a package which was found to contain stationery. The manager of the store entered a charge of larceny against him.

CARNIVAL WAS LIKE A SUBMARINE SHOW

Police Inspector Bernard McStay Indulged in Some Rainy Day Philosophy.

Somebody gave the weather man a season ticket to the Building Trades carnival in Wabash park, and the consequence was that the greatest of all illusions marked his debut into the show business. He struck upon the plan of giving a submarine spectacle. He ordered a two-inch rainfall, and got it. The water swept over the park and formed a miniature lake.

"I simply put Belasco to sleep when it comes to swell stage effects," thought the weather man. Then it rained some more.

"Here's where the midway becomes an enchanted sea!" exclaimed the weather man. "Here's where Diavolo will loop the loop and use a torpedo boat instead of a bike. Here's where Esau must take to a diet of sea serpents. Those wild beasts over there in the menagerie are sea lions. The midway girls and the charmers in gay Paree, they're mermaidens, sir. This is absolutely, unqualifiedly and indisputably the greatest show on earth. Get your umbrellas at the great bargain counter."

To the surprise of everybody, there was a good-sized crowd at the show last night. The weather man is a good barker, and he used the elements as a megaphone yesterday afternoon without stint. In the bald-head row of all the tent theaters sat Police Inspector Bernard McStay. The inspector was there to see that nothing would jar the public taste.

"Do you know that I feel just like a dramatic critic?" said the inspector, as he moved about uneasily on the rough pine board that served as his orchestra chair. "I always wondered how they felt when I saw them in the Nixon last winter—looking wise. But I'm more than a dramatic critic; I'm the stage censor—the kind the Kaiser employs. Everything suits me just about right."

"Will any of these shows be closed?"

"Piddlesticks! Open more up. Give the people a laugh. Let them laugh for two weeks. People in Pittsburgh don't laugh enough. We haven't sufficient entertainment in the summer. The monkeys at the zoo are dying of overwork. We haven't a Democratic convention like St. Louis, or a Coney Island like New York. The hump question has been settled and the Filipinos have left town. We need more shows and more laughs. Ha, ha!"

BENEFIT IN ALLEGHENY FOR SLOCUM SUFFERERS

An entertainment for the benefit of the General Slocum sufferers will be given this evening in the Third Ward school hall, Allegheny, by Hair and Gibson's Metropolitan Vaudevillians. The company includes Richey and Harrington, H. H. Mair and company, C. E. Libby, North Side Comedy Four, Carl Maier, John M. Lowrie and company, L. Jerome Mora, Horace Mentzer and "Schrey."

McKees Rocks Firemen Elect.

The McKees Rocks volunteer fire department last evening elected the following officers: Chief, A. A. Bingard; assistant chief, F. G. Calvert; president, C. F. Engel; vice president, James Lyons; secretary, O. S. Rasey; treasurer, Edward Shannon. It was decided to attend the convention in Connellsville in August 154 strong, and to enter all the contests for prizes.

Anderson Committee Dissolved.

The final report of the Col. James Anderson monument committee was made at a meeting held last night in the committee room of Allegheny councils. The committee then dissolved.

GLASS WORKERS ADVANCED.

American Window Glass Co. Determined to Operate Factories During Summer.

The American Window Glass Company has granted another increase to the workmen. The cutters will receive 26 per cent advance and the flatteners will be equally benefited. A general revision has been made in the wage scale, and they are now almost as high as the original Philadelphia scale. The increase is given with the understanding that the men work throughout the summer.

A meeting of the committee appointed to prepare plans for the National Association of Window Glass Manufacturers was to have been held at the Hotel Henry yesterday, but was postponed until today, owing to the inability of President J. R. Johnston to attend. The committee is to form plans to organize at a general meeting at Put-in-Bay on July 20.

Braddock Pastor Resigns.

The Rev. Frederick W. Perkins, pastor of the First Methodist Protestant church, Sixth street and Margaretta avenue, Braddock, tendered his resignation last evening at a congregational meeting. He left shortly after the meeting for his former home at West Monroe, N. Y., where he will spend the next two months. He will return to conduct the services the first Sunday in August and his resignation will become effective the first Sunday in September. Mr. Perkins will accept a charge in western New York, it is stated.

The Best Tan Oxford in the Greater City, $3.00 Pair.

A broad statement. We realize it and are prepared to substantiate it. We are prepared to offer the women of Greater Pittsburg the best tan Oxfords ever made to sell for $3.00 a pair. Not one style only, if you please, but quite a variety of styles. Two of the newest numbers bound to prove immensely popular are the new Court Tie and the new Blucher, both tan, and both $3.00 a pair. Without hesitancy we can say of these that, measuring by others' standard, there is every cent of $4.00 value in them.

What is nicer than tan Oxfords when the matter is sifted down? They are cool, comfortable and dressy, and if you have much walking to do you'll also consider the fact that they do not show dust a virtue. Indeed they are the ideal summer Oxford.

If you are hesitating over the matter, see these.

Fine Values in Umbrellas Today.

At $3.00. Fine silk tape edge Umbrellas for men and women.

Children's Umbrellas—good ones for 75c and $1.00, but if you care to have something finer pay us $3.00 for the neatest and most winsome childish umbrella that one would wish to see.

Fun for the Fourth.

Of course everyone will devote the evening to fireworks as sightseers or participants in letting them off. But Independence Day is one of the holidays that is given over entirely to jollity, so each will spend some portion of that day in the amusement which he or she likes best.

In our East Basement there are many things to help enjoy the day, which we have marked for much below the usual prices—

Tennis Rackets, they have been too much handled, but as good as ever except as to looks, $2.50, $3.00, $4.50, $5.00, $6.00; standard makes; today-buy them for one-fourth off these prices.

Catchers' Mitts at one-fourth and in some cases one-half off.

Comfort for the Feet.

The fortunate few who have no bother with their feet don't know what a really great blessing they are enjoying. But this notice is meant for those who do suffer with their feet. In other words, we wish to announce that Dr. White's celebrated foot remedies are to be had in our Toilet Department.

Wednesday, June 29, 1904.

The Gazette desires to call the attention of those of its readers who contemplate summer trips to the announcements of the many summer resort hotels published on page 12 of this issue.

The Mexican Permanent exposition, now located at St. Louis as a part of the world's fair, calls attention of American manufacturers and producers to the fact that its permanent exposition will open in Mexico City, October 1. Its purpose is to enable producers and manufacturers to get in touch with Mexican dealers and consumers in the most favorable manner. The result should be a large increase in trade between the United States and Mexico if American manufacturers and producers avail themselves of the opportunity offered. At any rate it is a matter worth bearing in mind when St. Louis is visited.

It is premature to talk of a war of rates on the St. Louis fair business. The Baltimore & Ohio and the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie roads have met the Wabash figures, being entitled to the differential, and there the matter will rest unless the Pennsylvania system makes a cut. The Pennsylvania has not indicated its future intentions beyond the announcement that it will enter the coach excursion business in July. That has no significance pertaining to rates and it is wholly probable there will be no "war," at least not before September. It would not be wise for the layman to prophesy regarding anything in the railroad world for a longer time than that. Many things can happen in two months leading toward peace or war.

A contract was let by the navy department yesterday that calls for the largest wireless telegraph plant that has ever been erected for other than experimental purposes. Its terminal stations are to be Key West and Colon, with intermediate stations in the West Indies. This service, if efficient, will be of inestimable value to the government, as through it information may be transmitted to the canal commission, or to any naval vessel within the Gulf of Mexico or the Caribbean. In time of war, if the country should be so unfortunate as to have another war, it would be absolutely indispensable. Both Japan and Russia have demonstrated the utility of the wireless systems for strategical purposes and to keep headquarters informed of movements afield.

There is naturally much speculation concerning the probable money plank of the St. Louis platform. Some of the leaders have been discussing the matter in Chicago and find it a knotty problem. It is generally conceded the "reorganizers," or "old-line Democrats," will be in control of the convention. They naturally desire to bring back to the fold all who were driven out by Bryan's wild heresies eight years ago and would like to adopt a sound money plank for that purpose. There is a fear, however, that such action would drive out of the party a large number of Bryan followers, so a non-committal utterance is favored by some. Whichever way it turns on candidates or issues, the poor old Democracy is confronted with difficulties of its own making. Consistency is a jewel that party has not possessed for more than 40 years.

Apparently Gen. Kuropatkin is trying to resume his masterly retreat to the north without waiting for a decisive battle. But it is an open question whether he has not delayed too long to extricate himself without severe losses. He might easily get away from Gen. Oku at the south, or even from the third army from Takushan, which won a six-hour fight from the Russian troops at Feng-Shin-Ling pass, but it is not so easy to escape Gen. Kuroki's columns, which are now in touch with his line from Hai-Cheng to Liao-Yang, if not almost to Mukden. The Russian retreat is believed to be in full swing, but it need surprise no one if a portion of the army is cut off, or the whole force compelled to fight a costly rearguard action back toward Harbin, until the rains come to its relief. The Japanese have been taking Russian guns and supplies as fast as the Siberian railroad has been able to forward them during two months.

There are gratifying signs of a busy and prosperous fall. It is announced that the principal mills of the United States Steel Corporation in the Pittsburgh district have sufficient orders booked to insure their activity throughout the summer. The railroads are placing large orders for rails and cars and it is known that railroad managers think that the period of retrenchment is at an end and that they will need all their resources to handle the traffic that will have to be moved this fall. There are no better barometers of business conditions than the iron industry and railway transportation interests, and the prospects of renewed activity in those lines imply a general state of business activity this fall.

Secretary Taft and former Secretary Olney, at Harvard commencement, expressed differing views of the Philippine problem, but avoided any seeming clash. Secretary Taft had all the better of position, yet it should be of advantage to the university young men to be set thinking by the divergence of great men's opinions. If they are taught by this incident that there are two sides to every question and that the right may be determined only by deep thinking, they will have added much to their four-year course. Even great men get on the wrong side of great questions by speaking without mature deliberation, and once they have spoken it is hard to get over on the right side, for few care to make the confession of error. Then again the exhibition teaches that questions of state may be discussed without anger and expletive.

Capt. Van Schaick of the ill-fated steamer Slocum gave his testimony to the coroner yesterday in face of protests from a managing owner of the boat and the company's attorney. It was interesting testimony, damaging to the owning company and to the United States inspector. According to the captain, the inspector performed but a small part of his duties and that in a most perfunctory manner, while the officers and directors of the company paid no attention whatever to securing the safety of their passengers. All this was indicated before, but it sounds more startling when put into language by one who should know all about it. The trouble with official inspections is that there is no one in interest to inspect the inspectors and see they perform their duties properly. Otherwise there could be no Slocum disasters, though there will always be accidents.

Syndicated Politics.

The recent conferences at Washington among Democratic leaders have been construed as a movement inimical to Judge Parker's candidacy. It may suit the purposes of those participating to have that report spread abroad, but the real design is probably larger and more positive than any attitude of mere negation as regards any particular candidacy. For a long time past the sappers and miners of the Cleveland movement have been at work undermining the ground upon which the Democratic factions are fighting. The nomination of Cleveland in 1892 was accomplished by a syndicate who successfully prepared the way for carrying him through the convention, although then, as now, he was not a candidate for the nomination and had expressed a preference that some one else should be chosen. The same methods are again employed, and there are signs that an extensive but quiet concentration of influence is going on in preparation for the final effort. Considering the names of those who have been figuring in the recent conferences, the most probable interpretation of their activity is that the Cleveland syndicate of financial magnates is being antagonized by a syndicate of party managers determined that in any event the action of the St. Louis convention shall not be determined by any explosion of sentiment engineered by outsiders.

Apart from the Cleveland underground movement the party managers have to deal with the Bryan raiders, who will attempt to rush the convention by stampede tactics. Bryan has been busy stirring up trouble wherever he can and has succeeded in collecting a large assortment with which to excite the convention. It is reported that contesting delegations will present themselves from Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Delaware and other states. Mr. Bryan is to be a member of the credentials committee from Nebraska, so that he will secure to himself oratorical opportunities both in the committee and before the convention of which he will take the greatest possible advantage. When such shrewd campaigners as Senator Gorman, John R. McLean, ex-Senator Smith of New Jersey and our own Col. Guffey get together, it is not at all likely that they will omit to notice such a patent feature of the situation as the Bryan arrangements for a hot time, or will fail to provide cooling treatment. The probability is that the situation is much better under control than appears. The old party leaders who were hustled aside by Bryan are getting their grip upon the party machinery. They are steering a middle course between the extremes of Clevelandism and Bryanism and are likely to be in a position to determine the actual choice of the convention. If at present there is the greatest uncertainty as to what that choice will be, that is probably more due to the waiting policy of the party managers than to any real difficulty of concentration.

Our Foreign Policy.

The energetic action taken by the administration in the case of Mr. Perdicaris has deepened the impression made upon Europe by the vigor and efficiency of our present management of foreign relations. We have the advantage of being able to act more freely than any European power without arousing anxiety as to our ultimate intentions. Nobody suspects us of desiring to appropriate any territory or of extending our jurisdiction, so that we have no need to beat around the bush in pursuing legitimate ends. Thus we were able to take the lead in assuring the neutrality of China and by the general consent of Europe our government is the chief custodian of the policy of the open door in the far east.

Our recent intervention in Morocco is regarded as another instance of the efficiency of American diplomacy. The appearance of our men-of-war at Tangier sent a thrill through Europe, but our position was admitted to be unassailable. At the same time it has done more than all previous diplomatic negotiations to demonstrate the necessity of settling the Moroccan question. The Tangier correspondent of the London Times wrote to that journal: "Though among some foreign residents the presence of the American ships is regarded almost as an act of aggression, their presence is almost the only security for the lives and property of Europeans. It is America's entire independence of action which may bring the impossible situation in Morocco to a head, and thus cause order to be restored in the country."

It is a fortunate thing for American interests that at a time when they are so rapidly expanding all over the world the management of our foreign relations is in such firm and capable hands. The prestige and influence of the United States were never before so high as now, and this constitutes a commercial asset of inestimable value.

The Cost of Celebrating.

With the Fourth of July less than a week away, the annual discussion of its dangers is active. In Pittsburgh and Allegheny the sale and firing of high explosives have been wisely prohibited by police orders, and we hope the orders will be enforced. The toy pistol has also been put on the blacklist here. The state board of health and local boards have issued warnings that may be useful in saving life. The allopathic physicians advise immediate professional treatment for even slight injuries and inoculation, while the homeopathists have found that hypericum prevents tetanus and cures it in its early stages at least. There is a general movement for a saner celebration of the natal day of the republic. In Chicago it has taken the form of an incorporated organization which will endeavor to mitigate the evil by furnishing free to the small boy such forms of explosives as may be shot off with the minimum of danger. In Baltimore a measure is now before the common council to impose a heavy penalty upon the sale of high power explosives to anyone on the Fourth.

Doubtless it would be impossible to squelch that particular form of patriotism which apparently must find expression in gunpowder. What is seriously demanded are sensible restrictions, warranted by the yearly increase of accidents on Independence day. According to a record kept by the journal of the American Medical association last year's celebration cost the nation 475 lives, 10 persons totally blinded, 95 eyes lost and 3,900 other individuals maimed or disfigured—a total casualty list of 4,458. Dr. R. L. Randolph, an eye specialist of Baltimore, has collected statistics of 493 cases of Fourth of July accidents in that city during the last four or five years. Of these 357 were children whose average age was 12 years. From this number 40 eyes had to be removed.

Medical journals in supporting this demand for a reformed celebration lay strong emphasis upon the fact that in every large city, in hospitals as well as in private homes, lie scores of sick persons, many of whose slender chances for recovery are lost by the nervous shock incident to the bedlam of noises which assails them on the Fourth. This is one of those reforms, however, which will come slowly. The Fourth of July casualties are great only in the aggregate, and the number in any one city is not large enough to make a lasting impression on the community. Then, too, there is a popular sentiment which insists that as the glorious Fourth comes only once a year it would be little short of sacrilegious to interfere with the youngsters' time-honored idea of celebrating it. Therefore many parents, instead of setting an example of reform for their children, become children themselves and burn as much powder as the rest of them.

NEW YORK, June 28.—It will be a pity if a strike should defer the opening of the rapid transit subway beyond the time it is expected to be given to the public, but such a contingency becomes possible. The bricklayers, some of whom, with overtime, are making $10 a day, are threatening to strike for an increase in pay of 10 cents a day. If they do not get it, they will strike, according to men who are supposed to know what is likely to happen. John B. McDonald, the contractor in charge of the subway, will not set any exact date for the opening. He is afraid to do so, because he knows the men are waiting for his announcement so that they may go out on strike and enforce their demand by quitting at an inopportune moment for the contractor.

The ordinary observer may note for himself that the road is nearly ready for use. Look into any of the entrances such as those in City Hall park, for instance, and you will see that only the decorating and general finishing operations are going on. Favored persons with a pass can go into the subway now, and it is not difficult for ordinarily respectable citizens to get passes. The construction work on the roadway is so well advanced that trains could be run at once were the power house ready. It is the power house that causes the trouble and the bricklayers know it. If they should hold up work on that part of the enterprise, it will mean a postponement of the opening which will cause annoyance to 1,000,000 people or so for many days. Experimental trains will be running between City hall and One Hundred and Fourth street by the beginning of August. That is proof that the subway could be opened in September if there were nothing to interfere in an unlooked-for way. Strikes have made a lot of trouble for New York in the last year or two. Disgusted New Yorkers fervently hope that they will not be repeated this fall.

Worse Than Robbing the Dead.

Nothing is too sacred to escape the claws of the professional rascal. Men have been going about getting money under the pretense that it was to relieve sufferers by the General Slocum disaster. Happily, the fellows have been caught and are in jail. The dirty character of their swindle is about on a level with stealing pennies from the eyes of a corpse.

Slocum Investigation Is Vigorous.

It is some satisfaction to know where the fire started in the General Slocum. Expert testimony—that of Fire Marshal Freel—is that it begun in the barrel of salt hay, where some of the crew said it did right after the day of the disaster. What will be proved by that remains to be seen. Somebody must have dropped fire into the barrel, or at least something that would generate fire, and it may be that that individual, if ever he is caught, will be charged with responsibility for the fire itself, although of course, not for the general neglect that seems to have prevailed in the management of the steamboat.

It is pleasant to note that there is no disposition to be lukewarm in the investigation. It is being carried on vigorously, so there is every hope that the bottom of the affair will be reached in due time, with punishment for those who deserve it. Not that any human punishment could be adequate for such a happening as that on the General Slocum on Wednesday a week.

Broad Field for Literary Work.

It is often remarked by bookish persons that you can find almost any literary work you may want somewhere in New York. That is, the work is in the city, although you may not always be able to find it just when you want it. There are so many fine libraries here, however, that it is only some exceedingly rare volume which is not to be procured with a little searching. Columbia university has a fine library, and is trying to improve it. The authorities have just purchased the Jarchow library of Germanic books, consisting of more than 1,500 volumes. They embrace the works of standard authors on German science and philosophy, and the history of German literature.

No Rest for Actors.

Every summer there is a howl from shopkeepers along the "Actor's half-mile," known as the Rialto that there are too many loiterers for the good of trade. Then the Tenderloin police march upon Broadway and shove the actors along. Thus has just happened now. Orders have been issued by the captain of police that everyone must keep moving between Thirty-sixth and Forty-second streets. There is one block on the west side of Broadway on which the actors may lounge at their will. That is between Thirty-ninth and Fortieth streets, where stands the Metropolitan opera house. There are no stores on that block. A bank and a restaurant, with the opera house take up the entire block. The manager of the opera house is in Europe, the bank closes at 3 o'clock p. m., and the restaurant man does not care. The police tell the actors to go on the side streets when they want to rest, but they are tolerated in front of the Metropolitan—for the present.

Creatore at Manhattan Beach.

Creatore, who has just finished an engagement in Pittsburgh, will open at Manhattan Beach on Sunday for a 10-day stay. The Italian leader is exceedingly popular in this city and there will surely be a rush to Manhattan Beach to hear him—and see him. He is both picturesque and artistic, as Pittsburghers all know.

Closer Watch on Fireworks.

One of the signs of the season are the special officers in their gray coats and helmets standing at the doorways of all the fireworks houses in Park place and Warren street. As the Fourth of July approaches there is a big sale of pyrotechnics and business is booming in all the places where such things are sold by wholesale. The fatal accident in Philadelphia, caused by the unexpected combustion of a pinwheel, and the blowing up of a lot of crackers, "serpents," and other awful combustibles, has added to the vigilance exercised here, if such additional vigilance there could be, where it was perfect before. There have been fires and explosions in some of these places in former years, and people connected with the fireworks industry know what such blow-ups mean.

Regatta and College Yells.

There was a general rush up the Hudson today of people interested in aquatics. It is only occasionally that a regatta, embracing six universities takes place on the tranquil waters of the beautiful stream that flows past Poughkeepsie. But that was the case today. Cornell was the host, of course, doing what it could to make its rivals from other temples of learning comfortable, and the diversity of college yells was proof that all appreciated the friendly spirit of the boys who were at home, and tried to make everyone else feel so.

The Quiet Observer

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Will they do it?

Parents have been warned against permitting—note the word permitting—their children to use toy pistols, percussion caps or fulminating powder on the Fourth of July, or at any other time, for that matter.

Will parents heed the warning?

Parents so love their children, or should so love them, that they will allow nothing to harm them, much less permit them to indulge in sports that endanger life and limb.

But they do it. At least more than a score of children died in this city last year from wounds effected by the toy pistol.

This alone should be sufficient warning to parents not to permit their children to toy with this death-dealing toy.

Already stacks of these instruments of torture and of death may be seen in shop windows and on store counters.

And already are children buying them. They are also buying torpedo canes. These are merely another form of the toy pistol, the ammunition being identically the same.

* * * * *

The harvest of the toy pistol, which was sown last Fourth of July and garnered within the next two or three weeks, aggregated several hundred lives.

What shall the harvest be this year?

It is for parents to say, since they have the regulation of it in their hands.

Some sociologists say it is better that children should die than to be reared by parents who care no more for them than to permit them to run in the way of injury or death, either physical or moral.

This is rather an abhorrent teaching, and yet it seems to have some sense and reason behind it.

How much worse is it, in reality, to permit children to run into danger to life and limb than to endanger their moral and social lives by evil association?

This is a rather deep and complex problem, but not too deep to be thought over, even by those who cannot solve it.

Anyway, the warning is timely, and it should be sounded loudly and continuously.

What would be wrong with sounding it from the pulpit? Is it not a matter of life and death?

* * * * *

But here is the rub.

Suppose your boys are not permitted to shoot crackers and toy pistols, but your neighbor boys are allowed to shoot to their hearts' content, won't your boys feel that they are being sadly abused, and won't they be led to think that bad boys have the better times?

Merely telling your boys that you denied them this privilege because you loved them so, will hardly disabuse their minds unless you afford them some other amusement and entertainment that will make amends for their loss and disappointment.

Unless you do this your boys are liable to steal away and play with the bad boys who have such good times. And can you blame them? And can you quite excuse yourself if they should turn out to be bad boys like the rest?

Boys will be boys, and there is no use trying to make them into men before their time. And being boys they must be treated as such, and the better the boy treatment they get the better men they will become.

A boy will stand a whole lot of curbing, but he will stoutly resent pinching, chafing or being tied hand and foot.

* * * * *

But since the boy is here in great profusion and endless variety, what shall we do with him?

Regulate him.

When properly regulated he is as gentle and as tractable as a well-regulated mustang; but if not regulated he will soon be able to give a bucking pony pointers on bad acting.

It is not regulating him to class him with men and require him to act as men act, for he cannot feel as men feel, nor think, nor see as men do. He doesn't fear lockjaw on the Fourth of July any more than he fears cramps in the swimming season, or griping pain when green apple time comes.

He wants to shoot on the Fourth, and he believes, down deep in his heart, that he has a perfect right to shoot on that occasion. So let him shoot, but in accordance with strict, yet reasonable, regulations. And let his indulgence in green things and in swimming be regulated in like manner, and you may depend upon it that he will take kindly to it and soon begin to realize that regulation is a good thing.

Regulate the boy and he will give a good account of himself.

* * * * *

Policemen seem to think it is the sum of their duties to pull in drunks and disorderlies, keep the crowds moving on and answer questions.

Why not do a little regulating now and then? Surely they know the street loafers, the bad men and the bad boys, and they ought to be able to regulate their conduct so as to render it less offensive.

And why not get up a set of regulations for shooting day? If target shooting and game shooting can be regulated, why can't shooting for fun be regulated?

Haven't city authorities the right to designate shooting grounds, the same as dumping grounds and places for storing wagons and other things that would prove a nuisance on the street?

If the Fourth of July shooting was restricted to certain places and during certain hours, the police could then see that it was done decently and in order.

Why not utilize the parks as shooting places on holidays? What are parks for if not to accommodate those who want to get out and have a large or even a noisy time?

Were the shooting and fireworks confined to the parks and other open spaces in the city, there would be no danger from fires and the police would be better able to regulate these exhibitions.

* * * * *

Other cities are moving for some sort of regulation of the firecracker nuisance. Chicago has tabooed the toy pistol and so have some other cities. Pittsburgh appears to be satisfied with warning the people against the dangers that lurk in these innocent looking, but ill-constructed guns.

Is a mere warning enough?

Hardly, since the go-as-you-please order has been so long in vogue. Definite action will have to be taken by the authorities, rules and regulations established for controlling it and provision made for the accommodation of those who feel they have the right and that they must shoot on certain occasions.

Isn't this matter serious enough and of sufficient importance to be worthy of the attention of our city fathers and of their servants, the city officials?

Or is it such a big thing, or so far-reaching in a political sense, that the legislative and executive branches of the municipal government are afraid to tackle it?

Anyway, the people are becoming a good deal stirred up over it, and they may demand that something be done, and that before very long.

What do you think can be done in this matter, or what do you think ought to be done?

All that the people need do in the case is to agitate the subject, elect men to council and to the various offices, who are in favor of prompt and efficient action.

Not Her Affair.

Uncle Ephraim had put on a clean collar and his best coat, and was walking majestically up and down the street.

"Aren't you working today, uncle?" asked one of his acquaintances.

"No, suh. I'se celebratin' my golden weddin', suh."

"You were married fifty years ago today?"

"Yes, suh."

"Well, why isn't your wife helping you to celebrate?"

"My present wife, suh," replied Uncle Ephriam, with dignity, "ain't got nothin' to do with it. She's my fourth, suh."—Chicago Tribune.

Pulling Out Motes.

That there are some semi-nude figures upon the new stock exchange in New York has outraged a number of a people; at least, so they say. There were women in Providence who declared that the beautiful Pan-American posters were indecent. As for the New York display made by the leading artists in the country, it does not approach in nakedness what may be seen at the Metropolitan opera house in the height of the season; and the exhibit is in flesh, not in stone.—Buffalo Commercial.

Political Drift

The outcry of the southern press against the suffrage plank of the Republican platform is an appeal to prejudice. The convention declared that where any state has abridged its electorate its representation in the house of representatives and in the electoral college shall be reduced in the manner prescribed by the Constitution. The question is not a racial one, but whether the Constitution shall be obeyed. The plank by no means represents the views of extremists upon the question of negro suffrage, it does not demand that the negro shall not be debarred from voting, it is applicable to northern and western states, as well as southern; it affects the representation in California and Massachusetts, as well as in South Carolina or Louisiana. In fact, many extreme supporters of the right of the negro, without property or educational qualifications, to vote, look upon the constitutional provision with hostile eyes, because of the theory of suffrage which it involves.—Cincinnati Times Star (Rep.).

The railroads and the trusts are determined to crush LaFollette if they can. They hold that there is no room for him or any of his species, in the Republican party as it is now constituted. Therefore, they back Spooner and would not permit him to surrender or compromise, even were he inclined to do either, which he is not. The blood of both factions is up. Each calls itself the only Republican party, and each has its own candidate for governor and its own list of presidential electors at the head of its ticket. Hence the probability of Democratic success in a state which in 1900 gave McKinley over 100,000 plurality.—New York Commercial (Dem.).

It is 12 years since conservative men have voted for a Democratic candidate for president. Through 12 years every year has brought forward a body of new voters to most of whom the Democracy of the day was repellant. Here are two facts of cardinal importance which must be considered in weighing the prospects of the coming campaign.—Philadelphia Press (Rep.).

It is perfectly well known that Judge Parker will receive a majority of the votes in the convention, probably on the first ballot, certainly on the second. The most that the irreconcilables hope to do is to combine enough of the radical elements to prevent him from receiving a two-thirds vote. It is not believed that this can be done; but if such a combination shall be formed it will be for the convention to say whether the safe and sound principle of majority rule, the principle and system of Democratic government everywhere, shall not be restored. The two-thirds rule was adopted to enable a pro-slavery oligarchy to dictate the nomination for president. If necessary the St. Louis convention should abrogate this rule rather than permit a Populistic and boodle combination to condemn the Democratic party to a third campaign of suicide.—New York World (Dem.).

It may be that Col. McClellan will be able to prove to the convention that Judge Parker has no sure control of New York state—that Tammany, which is the vote-producer of the Democratic end of the state is unqualifiedly opposed to him. But if he beats Parker it is easy to conceive that Parker may beat him in turn. The Esopus judge has following enough for effective reprisals, surely. No candidate has ever been nominated on the strength of Tammany alone, and McClellan has nothing else today.—Buffalo News (Ind.).

There is, however, one advantage that Parker has. He has no candidate against him who at present commands the entire support of the opposition. Tammany thrusts forward Mayor McClellan with a hope that in the end there may be a movement toward Cleveland. There is Gorman, with the support of Maryland and something more from West Virginia. There is Olney in Massachusetts, but his people are supposed to be ready to go to Parker after a complimentary ballot or two for their own candidate. And so it goes. Parker has an organized force, while against him are scattered detachments.—Philadelphia Inquirer (Rep.).

Of the most of these plots and counterplots to outmaneuver the majority in the St. Louis convention it is not merely the privilege, but the duty of the Democracy to be suspicious, especially in considering who are playing this game of politics under the table. Another attempt to form an anti-Parker combination is said to include Senator Gorman, Bryan, Hearst, Charles F. Murphy and others, with the view of making Mayor McClellan the candidate. The further object of this alliance is to construct an "acceptable" national platform. Heaven save the Democratic party from such a platform as would issue from that source!—Philadelphia Record (Ind.-Dem.).

There are some things concerning which the Chicago platform maintains an embarrassed silence. For example, it says nothing about statehood for the territories, nothing about the wans of Mormonism. It says not a word about the postoffice grafters or honesty in the public service. The silence here is very profound. It does not tell why Roosevelt did not butt into the Colorado mining region anarchy while praising his intervention in the anthracite troubles in Pennsylvania.—Atlanta Constitution (Dem.).

The Bryan policy at St. Louis will be first cojolery, secondly menace and thirdly compromise. If he cannot defeat Judge Parker in one way he will attempt to defeat him in another. If the Democrats do not wish to go before the people with the slime of the Populistic serpent over them all, they will have to decide very early in the sessions at St. Louis against the pretensions of the Populistic wrecker from Nebraska.—Chicago Chronicle (Dem.).

There is not so much ground for alarm on account of the position assumed by the Republican national convention on the subject of southern representation as many people seem to believe. It is the old buncombe threat carried a little further than heretofore, but still not to the danger point.—Cincinnati Inquirer (Dem.).

Whether the action be genuine and pregnant with the sincere purpose to nominate McClellan if possible, or whether the young mayor is to be used as a temporary weapon with which to defeat Judge Parker, then to be tossed aside in the interest of an entry not yet unblanketed, will be speedily developed. Mayor McClellan is a serviceable instrument of Tammany and will gracefullly permit that powerful organization to make a football of him if it finds any pleasure or profit in so using him. That Senator Gorman has cast his fortunes with Mayor McClellan, to stand or fall with him, will not be generally believed.—Baltimore American (Rep.).

This year the Democratic party has no encouragement in any election returns that are less than 12 years old. It is somewhat at sea as to issues and as much so as to candidates. But it has hope and it believes it has a good fighting chance. We may add that a marked lack of Republican confidence strengthens this belief. The time will probably come when "the unwritten law" prohibiting a third term will be repealed, but if the time ever comes when only one party enters for the prsidentiol race our republic will have failed and its melancholy remains will be awaiting interment.—Washington Post (Ind.).

A curious situation for the political prophets would arise should the Democratic convention also nominate Gen. Miles. Not that such a nomination is probable, but the balance between the factions at St. Louis may be such that the most unlooked-for nomination will result. It is generally admitted that the Prohibition party draws much more heavily from Republican than from Democratic strength. By the same token, however, Gen. Miles as a candidate on both tickets might conceivably drive large numbers of Democratic votes over to the Republican side. It illustrates excellently the confusion and uncertainty of Democratic national politics this year that such a curious alliance as this can be even mentioned as among the possibilities.—Chicago Record-Herald (Rep.).

The Death Roll

Jacob Boos.

Jacob Boos, a prominent business man at Butler, Pa., is dead from nervous shock resulting from being knocked down by his horses and run over by his delivery wagon. Mr. Boos was nearly 69 years of age. He was born in Hesse Darmstardt, Germany, learned the blacksmithing trade and came to this country in 1853. He located in Butler a year later and became a partner in the merchandise firm of Troutman & Boos, and then of the milling firm of Walter & Boos. For 20 years he had conducted a grocery and produce business. He was treasurer of the Merchants Mutual Insurance Company. He married Barbara Walter, who with five daughters, survives him.

PERSONALS

Jose Aranbaum of New Orleans spent yesterday in Pittsburgh and left last night for St. Louis. He is interested in the development of a portion of Nicaragua. He came to Pittsburgh to place an order for hydraulic machinery, the company with which he is connected having decided to use that power instead of steam. Speaking of Nicaragua, he said: "It has often been reported that Nicaragua is filled with rubber-producing trees. This is not the case. The majority of the trees will only stand two milkings a season, while a good india rubber tree should supply at least eight. To tap a tree too often kills it. The red ants discovered in that country, and which are said to be destroyers of the insect which devastates cotton, are apparently an innocent and harmless creature, but when vexed they will bite. While the bite is not necessarily dangerous, yet it produces a large swelling and without proper treatment may result seriously. Nicaragua is a rich country, but will be costly to develop on account of the expense in getting the product to foreign markets."

Edward Henry of troop H, Fifteenth cavalry, United States army, passed through the city last evening on his way to Ft. Myer, Va., where he is stationed. He obtained a leave of absence on account of the sickness of his mother, who resides in Cleveland. His furlough expired and his mother is still dangerously ill.

F. C. Smith, proprietor of the Colonial hotel, left last night for St. Louis. He will be gone for about two weeks. While there he will inspect the many new hotels erected on account of the world's fair.

J. C. Northville of Jefferson county, while waiting for a train for home after spending yesterday in the city, said: "The late season, followed by so much rain, has proved disastrous to the corn crops. A large part of the grain did not come out of the ground. I spent several days of last week putting in new grain, but as it is so late I do not expect a very good crop. According to reports, the corn crops all over the country have been retarded by the wet weather."

Elias A. Henderson, a New York tailor, passed through the city last night on the Pennsylvania limited. "The leading tailoring establishments," he said, "are receiving large orders from political organizations for campaign suits. The majority call for khaki uniforms."

J. E. McGuire, the oil man, celebrated his 46th birthday by giving a dinner to several of his friends at Newell's last evening. His guests were Anton Lutz, F. G. Lutz, W. H. Zahniser, Andrew Gartland, B. J. Minahan, Frank H. Tooker, E. J. Riffle and C. F. Kirschler.

Capt. Charles R. O'Leary, paymaster in the United States navy, has been assigned to duty on the cruiser Columbia. He will sail from Philadelphia on August 1 for Northern Europe. Capt. O'Leary is a son of Timothy O'Leary of this city.

Direct Evidence.

The lawyer shook his finger warningly at the witness and said. "Now we want to hear just what you know, not what someone else knows, or what you think, or anything of that kind, but what you know. Do you understand?"

"Wal, I know," said the witness, with emphasis, as he lifted one limber leg and laid it across the other, "I know that Clay Grubb said that Bill Thomson told him that he heard John Thomas' wife tell Sid Shuford's gal that her husband was there when the fight tuk place, and that he said that they slung each other around in the bushes right consid'able."—

TURNERS OPPOSE HEPBURN'S BILL

One Resolution That Was Not Referred, but Was Adjusted Without Debate.

A RECEPTION IN M'KEESPORT

The Hepburn bill was protested against yesterday by the delegates to the convention of the North American Turnerbund, assembled in the Central Turner hall in second day's session. The resolution against the bill was adopted without debate.

The Hepburn bill is fathered by Congressman Hepburn, chairman of the committee on interstate commerce. It is designed to prevent the introduction of intoxicating liquors into states where the general sale of liquor is forbidden, as in prohibition states, or in South Carolina, where the sale of liquor is a state monopoly. The bill is intended to make prohibition prohibit.

A resolution that the turner association affiliate with the German-American Alliance of the United States aroused much debate. Perhaps 50 of the delegates spoke on the subject. One delegate from Indiana opposed the resolution, asserting that it was a political move. The turners were now an independent body, he said, but if this resolution passed they would become the prey of politicians and it would not be long until some governor or senator would carry the turner vote in his vest pocket. The resolution was adopted, being amended so as to recommend that each turner society join the nearest branch of the alliance.

Newark, N. J., was chosen as the city in which to hold the next convention, in 1906. Newark had only 16 votes on the first ballot, Cincinnati having 66 and St. Louis 137. On the second ballot St. Louis withdrew, casting its 42 votes for Newark. The votes of the Pittsburgh delegates were divided between the three municipal candidates.

The following resolutions were referred to the committee on resolutions: Condemning the conditions that gave rise to the Iroquois theater fire and loss of life in Chicago; condemning, in the light of facts brought out at the coroner's inquest, the conditions said to have been responsible for the great loss of life on the steamboat General Slocum.

A proposition that the teachers of physical culture meet every two years to formulate new ideas was referred to the committee on resolutions.

A resolution giving women the right to vote in the turner associations was defeated.

Last night the delegates went to McKeesport, where a reception was given them in Turner hall. Mayor George Falkenstein delivered the address of welcome. A banquet was served and at midnight the delegates returned to Pittsburgh on their special train.

AMERICA GERMAN SUGAR MARKET, DESPITE TARIFF

Minister of Finance So Announces—Will Remove Difference Between Nations.

By MALCOLM CLARKE.
[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

BERLIN, June 28.—The Frankfurter Zeitung publishes today a statement which will be of the greatest importance for the export of German sugar to the United States. According to the statement of the paper, the chancellor of the empire, Count von Buelow, has notified the minister of finance, Count von Rheinbaban, that by shipping a cargo of German sugar to New York it had been proved that, in spite of the protective tariff in force in the United States, sugar may be shipped from here at a profit.

Should this prove true, it will remove one of the greatest commercial difficulties existing between the United States and Germany, which has repeatedly caused illfeeling and is the primary cause why no commercial treaty exists between the two countries. With a new market for German sugar in the United States a new era will begin for the German sugar industry. Before the export will be tried on a larger scale, however, there will be some formalities to be arranged by the representatives of both countries, and it is hoped that the chancellor of the empire will take the necessary steps to induce the American government to give some kind of a guarantee that no additional duty will be put on sugar for a number of years.

PATRIOTIC TASTES CALL FOR GOOD THINGS TO EAT ON INDEPENDENCE DAY

Fruit dealers, produce men and wholesale grocers do not need a calendar to know when Independence day is near. They have been told during the past few days by increased demand for oranges, lemons, bananas and by the way people have commenced to lay in a store of food that to many people are luxuries except on holidays.

Cheese probably tells the approach of the Fourth better than any other commodity. It is a well-known fact among wholesalers that big and little stores must increase their supply of the cream product before the day of glorious celebration. So far this week, the cheese market has shown more activity along Liberty avenue than at any time since last winter.

"It is evident," remarked a produce man yesterday, "that people revere the patriotic day in more ways than one; they celebrate by eating dainties. rich fruits, nuts and the like, beside shooting firecrackers." Another dealer said: "One would think that in the heat of summer and with so many attractions of the blood and thunder kind, that people would give less attention to the table on the Fourth than on any of the other holidays, but not so."

Thousands of Pittsburgh homes will feast next Monday while the small boy makes the noise and spells America every minute with a cracker, Roman candle or devil-chaser.

RIOT ALARM TURNED IN FROM THE COUNTY JAIL

Wagonload of Policemen With Drawn Revolvers Respond at a Gallop.

Central station received a riot call from the county jail yesterday afternoon. Instantly a wagonload of armed policemen dashed at a gallop to the jail. The police scrambled up the steps at the entrance of the institution with drawn revolvers.

"What's the trouble?" asked Capt. Bartley.

"Nothing," answered Warden Lewis. "What are you fellows doing here?"

"Didn't you send in a riot call?" asked Bartley.

"Why, no," said Lewis.

An investigation was made immediately. The keepers inside of the jail examined the police boxes, but found them in order. The box in Warden Lewis' private office was next examined.

A few minutes before the arrival of the officers a woman, accompanied by her 3-year-old son called at the jail to see her husband, who is being held for trial. After talking to her husband she asked permission to use the telephone. She was taken to the warden's private office. On entering the office Warden Lewis saw the mother and child there. The woman was at the telephone and the child was standing under the small alarm box near the warden's desk.

"Mamma, I want to take this button home," said the boy, as he reached for the alarm box.

Warden Lewis tried to explain to the child the excitement he had caused, but the boy was unable to understand it, as he only wanted the small black button.

COMMITTEE TO PROBE TROUBLE AT GILL HALL

Pastor Montgomery Admitted to Presbytery He Knocked Down an Elder.

A possible heated debate on the troubles of the Rev. S. P. Montgomery, pastor of the United Presbyterian church at Gill Hall, was choked off yesterday by the prompt action of the Monongahela presbytery. Mr. Montgomery is the preacher who is said to have knocked down Elder Edmond P. Heath of the Gill Hall church.

When the afternoon session was called to order Mr. Montgomery arose and said he knew he had been guilty of breaking the law by "indulging in combat" with another man; that he was sorry for the occurrence, but he had been provoked beyond endurance. Moderator J. T. McCrory immediately referred the matter to a committee consisting of J. W. English, chairman, and the Rev. J. M. Wallace and Elder Samuel Young.

The session convened in the St. Clair church, Mt. Lebanon, in the morning, with Dr. McCrory in the chair. The presbytery voted to give the McKees Rocks mission church $800 and requested the Chartiers church to withdraw its Sunday school from McKees Rocks. The Chartiers church has had a Sunday school in McKees Rocks for years, and even after the mission was flourishing continued the school.

Presbytery agreed to pay $800 toward the $1,200 salary of the Rev. W. R. Jamison, pastor of the Rennerdale church. A call was sent to the Allegheny presbytery for the services of the Rev. C. F. Wiahart for the Second church, Wilkinsburg, at a salary of $2,400. The resignation of the Rev. Robert H. Hood, pastor of the Mt. Washington church, was accepted.

The Third church of Pittsburgh asked for $5,000 to establish a mission church in the Italian church. J. B. Fortunato will be called to the pastorate. The Rev. James G. Reaney, who had received a call to the St. Clair church, was ordained and installed.

The presbytery will hold an adjourned meeting in the Third church, Pittsburgh, on July 11 at 1:30 p. m.

BABY QUIRK'S QUICK CURE

Of Torturing Eczema by Cuticura

When All Else Had Utterly Failed.

"My baby, Owen Herbert Quirk, was afflicted from the age of six weeks with a loathsome running eczema, almost covering his face. I took him to Drs. —— and —— of Victoria Road, Aldershot, and he was treated by them for three months, but got much worse, and was a sickening sight to look at. I saw an advertisement of the Cuticura Remedies, and got the Soap, Ointment and Resolvent.

"We noticed an improvement at once, and within a fortnight the running had ceased and the scales were nearly all dried off, and in a month his face was perfectly clear, not a spot left. I have enclosed photograph of him when he was thirteen months old. He is now two years and four months, and has never had the slightest return of it. I am very grateful for the benefits derived from your remedies, and shall feel it a pleasure to make their value known. For corroboration of this statement you may refer any one to Mrs. Williams, 45 Michaels Road, Aldershot, or Mr. Gunstane, 40 Victoria Road, Aldershot, to whom we recommended the remedies for a skin humour, which they also cured. You are at liberty to do what you like with this statement, as I should like all to know of the value of Cuticura."

LAUGHS AT LOSS OF BAG OF GOLD

California Miner Robbed on a Pennsylvania Train Between Pittsburgh and Harrisburg.

NO TRACE OF THIEF FOUND

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Press Building.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., June 28.

Walter Scott, a mine owner of Death Valley, Cal., was robbed of $12,000 in gold dust on a Pennsylvania railroad train between Pittsburgh and this city last night. A canvas valise containing the dust was taken from Scott's side while he was asleep in his berth.

Scott declares he had the valise in his possession when he went to sleep shortly after the train left Pittsburgh last night. When he awoke, shortly before daylight, as the train was nearing Harrisburg and the valise was gone, Scott did not show great concern. He rang for the porter and informed him that "some galoot" had stolen his elderly laden valise. The porter called the conductor, John Hanley, to whom Scott repeated his tale.

The miner lighted a cigarette and went back to bed. As he disappeared within the curtains, he stuck out his head and grinned.

"Say," he drawled, "if Death Valley folks ever hear of this, I will be laughed to death. Done on my first trip out. Why, I'm so green the steers would eat me."

Hanley telegraphed to the station masters of Philadelphia. The case was placed in the hands of David Roche, the Pennsylvania detective, who in turn notified the police headquarters. With Scott was Eugene Hay, of Belleville, Ill., with whom the miner had become chummy on the train. The miner, with broad-brimmed hat on the back of his head and his feet cocked up on a chair, grinned proudly as he told of his loss. He said he did not care if the police never caught the thief or recovered the money if he could only have a five minutes' interview with the "coyote."

"Would I punch him?" he reiterated. "No, I'd just make him swallow his head. He wouldn't be of any use to anyone."

Scott said that when he left 'Frisco a week ago he had the gold dust in his trunk.

Yesterday, when his train reached Pittsburgh, he met a woman at the station. Leaving his precious trunk in the baggage room, the miner went away with his companion, and spent a jolly afternoon. During dinner Scott remembered that he had to catch the 7:10 train for New York and was obliged to leave hastily. When the Californian arrived at the depot he had great difficulty in locating his trunk, but he finally found it in a lot of baggage belonging to a party of Italians, where it had been placed because of its dilapidated appearance. He hurriedly opened it and was relieved to find that its contents had not been disturbed. When the baggage man learned what was in the trunk, he refused to take the responsibility of checking such a valuable piece of baggage.

Fuming at the delay, Scott purchased a canvas valise and transferred the bullion to that. Then he took the 9 o'clock train east.

HOMESTEAD YOUNG MAN ARRESTED IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, June 28.—With a letter in his pocket from his mother, telling him to be careful in New York, because it is such a wicked place, Harvey R. Eagleston, a young man of Homestead, Pa., was arrested today by Bronx park police, charged with stealing $15 from the cash drawer of Harry Parker, a gatekeeper of the Zoological gardens. He is also charged with having robbed another gatekeeper named Peters of a revolver and some jewelry.

Eagleston, who poses, the police say, as a sergeant of the regular army, was on his way down town when he met Detectives Dillon and Kruger of the Bronx park police. The detectives were clad in automobile suits, and Eagleston, they say, thinking they were wealthy men, started to tell them a hard luck story of how his mother had died suddenly and he needed funds to take him home to attend the funeral. Detective Dillon questioned Eagleston about some of the neighboring forts and finding he knew nothing about them, arrested him as an imposter.

WAR CORRESPONDENT DEAD

H. J. Middleton Dies of Enteric Dysentery at Russian Headquarters.

NIUCHWANG, June 27.—H. J. Middleton, Associated Press correspondent with the Russian headquarters near Liao-Yang, in Manchuria, died Sunday from enteric dysentery.

Henry John Middleton, the first of the American war correspondents to lose his life at the front in the present conflict, was representing the Associated Press at Gen. Kuropatkin's headquarters near Liao-Yang. He was about 33 years of age, unmarried, and was born in London, where his mother now lives. Mr. Middleton served as London correspondent of the New York Evening Post for over a year. He reported for the Associated Press all the Vigilant-Brittania races in the waters about Scotland, Ireland and England. He also reported the Dreyfus trial. When the Associated Press opened an independent bureau in Paris, in the fall of 1899, for the concentration there of all European news Mr. Middleton was sent there as assistant to the manager, and when the latter was recalled became Paris correspondent of the Associated Press, which position he filled until the winter of 1902. Then he was brought to New York, where he acted as night cable editor. Upon the opening of the Pacific cable at San Francisco Mr. Middleton was sent to inaugurate the cable department of the Associated Press in that city. Then he was sent to report the Russo-Japanese war.

FILIPINOS STILL NEED EDUCATION

Not in 20 Years Will They Be Ready for Self Government, Says Secretary Taft.

OLNEY ON SAME SUBJECT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., June 28.—Members of the Harvard Law School association assembled here today for the first general meeting since 1895. Secretary of War William H. Taft delivered the oration and Chief Justice Melville W. Fuller of the supreme court of the United States presided.

Chief Justice Fuller, '55, was elected president of the association.

In introducing Secretary Taft, Chief Justice Fuller said: "To a man who comes to us with marked success in a political career, the association extends a heartfelt welcome."

Mr. Taft discussed the relation of the United States to the Philippines from nearly every point of view, reviewing events in the islands from the time when their disposition was left an open question in the protocol with Spain to the present day and declaring his ideas as to the future.

Mr. Taft sketched Aguinaldo's career, reviewing his relation with Dewey and relating the circumstances of the killing of Bonifacio, the founder of the Katipunan society, and of Antonio Luna, the insurgent leader.

"The persons in this country who have idealized Aguinaldo have indignantly repelled the charges that Aguinaldo compassed those cruel deaths," continued Mr. Taft; "but one must say that the moral evidence is very strong against him."

As to the future, Mr. Taft thought it unwise to promise a conditional independence that should wean the people away from the importance of the present government.

"I am in favor of teaching the people how to govern themselves," said he, "and I cannot assume that such a lesson, so difficult to learn, can be taught to a people 90 per cent of whom are grossly ignorant today, without any political experience whatever, in five years, as some of our opponents say, or in 20 years, as others suggest."

Upon the completion of these exercises, the members of the association proceeded to the Harvard union, where dinner was served.

The banquet speakers included Richard Olney, Justice Knowlton of the Massachusetts supreme court, Baron Kaneko, the Japanese minister at Washington, and President Eliot of Harvard university.

Referring to Secretary Taft, Mr. Olney said:

"Having absolute mastery over the lives and fortunes of 7,500,000 of people, he has won general admiration and applause by the justice and skillfulness of his rule and by the tact, patience and humanity of his dealings with an alien and subject race."

Continuing, and referring to American rule in the Philippines, Mr. Olney said:

"According to him (Taft) we are rich enough and can afford it, and therefore it is our duty to sacrifice American lives and American treasure indefinitely and without stint for the education and elevation of Filipinos according to American standards. But out of any such proposition at once issues another legal puzzle for the modern American lawyer to find in the national constitution any authority for purely philanthropic enterprises—any right in that government to turn itself into a missionary to the benighted tribes of islands in the south seas 7,000 miles from our shores; or any other power to tax the toiling masses of this country for the benefit of the motley groups of the brown people of the tropics between whom and the taxpayers there is absolutely no community either of interest or sympathy."

Point Breeze Man Hurt.

Peter Ritter, aged 50, of 125 Dallas avenue, Point Breeze, was badly cut about the head in falling from a Troy Hill car at Ohio and Sandusky streets, Allegheny, last night. He was taken to the Allegheny General hospital.

DISCUSS STEEL PRICES.

Merchant Marine Commission Surprised That Cost Is Lower in Europe Than in Pittsburgh.

CLEVELAND, June 28.—With a huge American flag in the background, the members of the merchant marine commission, seated at a big table in the library room of the chamber of commerce, listened to addresses of prominent citizens of Cleveland and vicinity today on the rehabilitation of the American merchant marine.

One of the interesting features brought out at the hearing was a statement by James C. Wallace of the American Shipbuilding Company. He said that American steel was delivered at Belfast for $24 a ton, while the same steel cost purchasers in this country $32 at Pittsburgh. He was immediately questioned by members of the commission and he stated that his authority for the statement came from the assistant sales agent of the Carnegie Steel Company, who gave as his reason for selling the steel so cheaply that they wanted to keep the mills running.

"If that's so, it is an outrage and ought to be remedied," exclaimed Senator Gallinger and his statement was applauded.

CHICAGO, June 28.—After laying back for seven innings today the Pirates started a massacre of Chicago pitchers which proved one of the cruelest acts ever seen here. Two are dead and the remainder saved their lives by taking to the dark alleys. Only a little over 2,000 people were witnesses of the slaughter of Col. Selee's troops. The threatening rain prevented a large attendance at what promised to be a very interesting battle, with the Pirates in the estimation of the fans, impersonating the Chinese. The contest lasted for two hours, and until the last quarter of it the Cubs looked like sure winners. With little appreciable effort they maintained an advantage until Wicker stumbled, and then the fireworks began.

At the opening of the eighth Slagle made a brave run to get a long drive off Fred Clarke's bat, but he did not square around right and was thrown out very nicely. Wagner and Phelps hit a clean single to left and Wicker fumbled a short one off Sebring's bat. Ritchey drew a pass and Smith's long fly to Slagle ended. Four tallies resulted from the fusillades Clarke, Phelps, Sebring and Ritchey scoring in. Wicker was sent to the hospital.

Johnny Kling batted for Wicker in the eighth and hit a fine, lunging single. Then he walked to first, and Kling was caught napping. Flaherty hit to right field for two bases. Jones got his fingers on this fly, but they did not work right. There was a last desperate effort by the Cubs when Slagle got to first through an error by Sebring in trying to field a long drive off Casey's bat. Casey going to second. Chance went out, and Schreck struck out. Then Mc-Carthy hit safely. Davy Jones singled to center, and that was all. The two runs gained on these plays might as well have been passed up for all the good they did the Cubs. The score at the finish was 9 to 5 in favor of the Pirates.

At the opening of hostilities it looked all Chicago. Slagle and Chance each singled and then got around on Jones' two-bagger. Slagle scored again in the fifth. Wagner negotiated Pittsburgh's first tally in the sixth, but he had to lump himself in running bases and to do it. Phelps' single was got by McCarthy, and the big fellow beat the ball to third by the fraction of an inch.

Patsy Flaherty was given the glad hand by the 2,000 fans when the amount of Pittsburg rooting many of the South Side fans must have been present. The score:

YALE DEFEATS HARVARD IN CLOSE GAME, 6 TO 1

Reunion Classes Make Merry at Seeing Blues Victorious on Home Field Over Rivals.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW HAVEN, CONN., June 28.—In a game, the feature of which was the excellent play by the entire Yale base ball team, Harvard was defeated this afternoon by the Blue. The score was 6 to 1, and 8,000 people witnessed the defeat of the men from Cambridge. Yale's victory today gives each team one win in the annual championship series between these colleges.

Before the game began the classes, which were back for their reunions, marched and countermarched upon the field, each of the younger classes distinguished by some novel costumes. So much color and so many odd uniforms made the scene one long to be remembered. The half hour following the game also will live long in the memory of those who saw the reunion classes give vent to their gratification at having seen Yale victorious over Harvard on Yale field.

Yale's first run came in the first inning, partly because of Harvard's battery errors. Yale was blanked then until the sixth, although there was much free hitting. In this inning Coburn's curves were solved by the Yale batsmen. Miller started off with a drive too hot to handle. A passed ball, Cote's hit, Bowman's liner, Barnes' hit and Chittenden's hot grounder to centerfield, with ons or two misplays, netted Yale just four runs.

In the seventh inning Fischel of Harvard lifted the ball for a fine drive over the heads of the spectators in left field and scored Harvard's only run.

Yale's last run came in the seventh, when Huskamp beat the ball on a bunt to first base. Miller hit to Fischel, who fumbled, and Huskamp raced for home and scored. Score:

SYRACUSE WAS BIG SURPRISE

WAS NEVER COUNTED IN

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 28.—Varsity eight—Syracuse first, time 20:22 3-5, by 2½ lengths; Cornell second, 20:31½; Pennsylvania third, 20:42; Columbia fourth, 20:45 2-5; Georgetown fifth, 20:52 2-5; Wisconsin sixth, 21:01 1-5. Best previous time, 18:53 1-5, by Cornell in 1901.

Freshmen race, eight-oared, two miles—Syracuse first, time 10:01, by three lengths; Cornell second, 10:12 2-5; Pennsylvania third, 10:18 4-5; Columbia fourth, 10:20. Best previous time, 10:08, by Cornell in 1903.

Varsity four-oared race, two miles—Cornell first, time 10:53 3-5, by eight lengths; Columbia second, 11:12 1-5; Pennsylvania third, 11:15 3-5; Wisconsin fourth, 11:18 2-5; Georgetown fifth, 11:34 2-5. Best previous time, 10:31½, by Pennsylvania in 1900.

Cornell's supremacy is broken and the Syracuse men in town tonight are in a state of hilarious delight, for in two out of three races on the Poughkeepsie course today, the only races in which she was entered, the crews of Syracuse university won victory from the sons of Cornell.

In the four-mile eight-oared varsity race and in the freshmen two-mile eight-oared race the Syracuse oarsmen won by handsome margins, coming out of obscurity as a market that last night the friends of Syracuse could not find takers for bets at 1 to 12.

Cornell won the four-oared varsity race with ease. Wisconsin, which was thought to threaten all competitors in the four-oared and varsity, was never in the race, finishing next to last in the four-oared race and last in the varsity.

Columbia, the "dark horse," whose mysterious doings up stream have led to a good deal of solicitude on the part of all of her competitors, did well in the four-oared race, in which she came in second, though she made but a feeble effort to head others coming in last in the freshmen race and fourth in the varsity.

No records were broken. Indeed, the time was slower than for three years in two of the races, and from one minute and a half slower than last year's varsity race. What might have been done in the varsity race had Cornell pushed Syracuse may be inferred from a statement of the Syracuse stewards tonight, in which he is quoted as saying that his men were prepared for a surprise from Cornell in the last part of the race and were ready for it with reserve power, but they were not pressed in the last part of the race.

The effect of the unexpected victory of Syracuse is very marked here tonight in a great increase in all manifestations of interest in racing. Automobiles are speeding up and down and a great din of tooting horns kept the people of Poughkeepsie awake until far into the night.

The weather was on the whole nearly perfect today for racing. Dashes of rain marred the enjoyment of the spectators somewhat and a rather brisk southerly breeze toward the close of the day made the water somewhat rough, to which the slow time may be attributed.

The presence in the Cornell varsity eight-oared boat of two men—the Foote cousins—who had been prominent in the football event, added greatly to the interest of the great race of the day and led to allowances for her crew in their defeat at the hands of Syracuse, though the two men saved themselves to a great extent for this race.

Cornell led off at the pistol shot in characteristic style, but lost her lead almost immediately to Syracuse, whose quick stroke pulled out ahead with a lead which they never lost during the race and which was increased to five lengths at the finish. Once, near the mile mark, Cornell, in a fine burst of speed, did press her sturdy rival on almost even terms.

The real race was between the other four crews. Wisconsin for a time fought hard for third place, but after the second mile she fell steadily out of it and finished rather badly at the tail of the procession.

Georgetown made a fine struggle also for third place, but could not maintain the tremendous pace and finally had to give way to both Pennsylvania and Columbia.

Cornell took the lead in the first race—the four-cared—soon after the start, passing Georgetown, whose crew had gone to the front at the pistol. This race was never in doubt. Cornell pulling along with a strong, easy, almost leisurely stroke, which opened out the water between her stern and the bow of her nearest competitor until there were five and a quarter lengths of lead. It was a good race to the bridge, the feature being the tremendous effort of Georgetown to save herself from being last. Cornell, however, held on to the finish, her stroke oar was fainting in the bottom of the boat.

It was in the freshman race, the second of the day, that Syracuse first showed her true form. Cornell sprang into the lead at the word, but Syracuse quickly caught up with her and for the first mile to the bridge it was all pretty a fight as any rowing enthusiast could wish to see. Passing under the bridge, Cornell and Syracuse were bow and bow. Just beyond the bridge the Syracuse crew forged ahead, and as the last half mile was entered she had open water and was gaining. Pennsylvania was third by another length, Columbia fighting as best she might in the rear.

Down across the finish line went the Syracuse crew and they rowed on a half mile, as if the whole matter had been an everyday affair. Then they rowed back to their boathouse without the slightest evidence of fatigue, while all the boats in the river opened their shrill whistles and the crowds on the shore yelled themselves hoarse.

Morgantown Opens With Victory.

Work of Institute Progressing.

Interest in the teachers' institute conducted this week in the Chatham school, South Highland avenue, is growing. Today sewing and art will be taken up for special discussion and instruction, and the playground work will be continued. Tomorrow the special feature will be manual training, and among the instructors who will address the teachers who have been secured for the summer playgrounds and vacation schools this season will be Arthur A. Hamerschlag, director of the Carnegie Technical schools.

Yesterday morning Miss Mauda Monroe talked on "Drills, Marches and Occupations," advising the teachers to teach the children games in which they must use their muscles and in which motion plays a prominent part. Miss M. Graf talked on art work. In the summer schools, while Miss Margaret Campbell directed the work of vocal music. The class in cooking which met in the afternoon was small because this work will be introduced into but three of the schools, on account of the expense of the equipment. The afternoon session closed with a general meeting at which all the teachers were addressed by Miss Beulah Kennard, the general chairman of the summer playgrounds and vacation schools.

Choirs Measuring Party.

INVITED THE PRESIDENT.

Gen. Stewart Asked Roosevelt to Attend Pennsylvania Guard Encampment.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(Special.)—Adjt.-Gen. Thomas J. Stewart of Pennsylvania today called at the White House to invite the president to attend the encampment of the national guard at Gettysburg, from July 23 to 30. Gen Stewart reminded the president that Presidents Harrison and Cleveland had on occasions attended encampments of the Pennsylvania guard and begged the honor of entertaining him this year.

President Roosevelt thanked Gen. Stewart for the invitation and regretted that it would be impossible for him to accept. He is holding firmly to his announced intention of accepting no invitations this year. The only exception he has made was in favor of Pennsylvania, when he made the Memorial day address at Gettysburg.

LOUISVILLE, KY., June 28.—The central conference of American rabbis met today at "Homewood," the suburban home of I. W. Bernheim. The morning session was occupied mostly in a discussion of reading the scriptural readings appended to the union prayer book. "Here, in Colorado, is the crest of the continent, its supremest uplift, where from a vast central plateau, itself 6,000 feet above the sea, rise hundreds of granite peaks into the regions of perpetual snow. Here the waters of a continent are divided and great rivers flowing to either ocean have their source. Here are canons, gorgeous, awe-inspiring and stupendous, which testify to the hoary age of the mountains they have cut asunder. Here are the continent's treasure vaults, where veins of gold and silver seam the granite mountains. Here are medicinal springs for healing and refreshment; and here, under skies of deepest blue, lies a sun-bathed land with a climate whose delights and perfections the lowland dweller may not know."—Geo. Rex Buckman.

NOT VERY ANXIOUS FOR EMPTY HONOR

Gen. Miles Does Not Decline Prohibition Nomination, but Minimizes Its Value.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

INDIANAPOLIS, June 28.— One thousand delegates and visitors to the national Prohibition convention have arrived, but as they have distributed themselves among the smaller hotels and in boarding houses, where no bars are maintained, their presence in the city is scarcely noticeable. Leaders estimate that 3,000 delegates, alternates and visitors will have arrived by tomorrow morning, when the first business session of the convention opens. This will not include the Indiana visitors, who are expected to swell the attendance to 6,000.

National Chairman Stewart of Chicago, began today, taking a lead in the opposition to the nomination of Gen. Miles. State Chairman Jones of Pennsylvania, is at the head of the Miles forces.

Homer T. Castle of Pittsburgh, arrived today with the Pennsylvania delegation and declared himself in favor of the nomination of Gen. Miles: "I shall vote for him with the other 144 Pennsylvania delegates," said he. "When it was intimated to Mr. Castle that his own name was being mentioned for second place on the ticket with General Miles he smiled and said it was not time to consider that feature.

With the arrival of the New York delegation today one of the delegates made public through the national committee the following letter, a copy of which had been sent him by General Miles:

Washington, D. C., June 20, 1904.

The Hon. John R. Woolley, Chicago:

Dear Sir—The many kind expressions of favorable opinion in the editorial columns of our paper and in letters from yourself and many other prominent leaders I cannot permit to pass unnoticed or without expression of the appreciation and deep gratitude that I feel. The high character of the writers and those whom they represent, and their unsought approval of acts of my official life, render their words more than complimentary. The approval of such a large class of patriotic high-minded people I hold in the highest estimation as substantial reward and valued possession.

In justice to the writers and to myself, there is another reason why I should write you at this time.

Frequent mention has been made by you and by others of a proposal to place me in nomination by the convention to meet in Indianapolis on the 29th inst. As stated by me in a previous letter that has been published, my judgment strongly favors the postponement of action by that convention until the nominations at Chicago and St. Louis have been made. This was suggested, not as denying or questioning the importance of the subject of temperance, but in the hope that such limited action in that matter as can be taken by national authorities could be co-ordinated with action regarding the many and important subjects upon which the American people must pass judgment and which must occupy the attention of the chief executive in the near future. The excellent and patriotic people whom you represent cannot be less interested in these other great national questions at this critical period of our history than are the great mass of their fellow-citizens, for these questions concern the very fabric and form of our government as well as the integrity and efficiency of its administration.

The nomination at Indianapolis on the 29th inst., although an added and greatly valued token of approval and confidence, would not, in my judgment, afford that opportunity for effective and important public service which would be the chief motive for my resuming official life. NELSON A. MILES.

Among the reports submitted to the national committee tonight is one which shows receipts of $185,000 during the last four years, and $11,000 on hand.

PAIN DISAPPOINTED ALLEGHENY CHILDREN

For First Time in 25 Years the Weather Prevented Celebration by Public Schools.

For the first time in a quarter of a century, the elements postponed the annual jubilee of the Allegheny schools, which was to have been held yesterday. During the night and morning rain fell in such torrents that the West park, in which the schools were to gather, resembled a swamp. As it was not until afternoon that the warm sun broke through the clouds, Superintendent John Morrow of the public schools called off the celebration, much to disappointment of the children.

During the past few years the popularity of jubilee day has rapidly lost in favor until yesterday but four wards—the Second, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth—had arranged to have their annual outing in the downtown parks, and the Third Ward had picnics in places in or near the city. For this reason the crowd yesterday would have been the smallest perhaps that ever attended such an event. In the four wards the children assembled at 1 o'clock, but, instead of marching to the parks as usual, they remained in the school halls and listened to band concerts. These were to have been held in the school tents in the parks, but the indoor entertainment was the best that could be offered under the circumstances.

Perhaps the most disappointed of all those who normally take part in the jubilee were the venders of sweets and the hawkers who sell toy balloons, fancy whips, horns and other cheap articles to the happy children. All along North avenue refreshment stands had been erected by Greek and Italian peddlers, who went to some expense to decorate their places with flags and bunting. These were all loaded boxes before noon, and were torn down before evening by their disgusted owners.

There was one man in Allegheny who was very well pleased with the turn things took and for the first time in years on a jubilee day went home with a light heart. That was Superintendent William Hamilton of the Allegheny parks. It usually takes weeks for the handsome lawns to recover from the effects of jubilee day crowds, and indeed Superintendent Hamilton asserts that the parks are never so pretty after they have been trampled by the thousands that enjoy this festive day only a year. This season the grass will be unhurt.

TRADING AT A STANDSTILL IN NEW YORK MARKET

Price Changes Were as Small as the Volume of Business—Call Money a Little Firmer—Local Securities Also Quiet.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

A glance at the table in an adjoining column will reveal the narrowness of the New York stock market yesterday. The transactions only slightly exceeded a 100,000 shares, and the range of prices for even the most prominent stocks was the narrowest for a year at least. Even where there was some basis for fluctuations, as was the case with Reading, stocks were stagnant. The Reading report for May was even more unfavorable than expected. It showed a decrease in net earnings for the railway system of $228,987, and a decrease for the Coal and Iron Company of $136,161, a total decrease for the system of $465,068. The decrease in surplus earnings after fixed charges amounted to $458,000. Reading common, however, opened at 47, which was high, and closed at 46¾, which was low, and there were no transactions in either the first or second preferred shares. In Pennsylvania and Atchison, two of the most prominent stocks, the fluctuations were confined to ⅛ of 1 per cent. In St. Paul, Baltimore & Ohio and Southern Pacific the extreme range was covered by ¼ of 1 per cent. Even the formal announcement that not more than $40,000,000 Southern Pacific stock would be issued when authorized, failed to galvanize any life into Southern Pacific stock.

The most active railroad issue at the opening was Canada Pacific, which had the benefit of foreign purchases and a strong market in London, but even here the extreme fluctuation was only ½ of 1 per cent. The only stock which displayed any life and strength was Metropolitan Street Railway, which rose from 107¾ to 109¾, closing at 109¼. This movement was based upon shorts covering. Wall street has been bearish on this stock, and it probably became oversold, so yesterday traders circulated an improbable story of a plan under contemplation for a consolidation of the New York street railways, and the bears were "hit" severely.

The industrials were just as dull and narrow as the railroads. U. S. Steel preferred sold off rather easily to 55¾, representing a decline of ¾ for the day. The bonds opened at 75¾ and closed at 75½. Amalgamated Copper opened at 69¾, advanced to 70⅛ and declined to and closed at 69¾.

The market seems to be resting on a dead center, with conflicting influences nicely balancing each other. The weather bureau issued its weekly crop bulletin, and it was more favorable than for some time past. The corn crop has made good progress, and east of the Mississippi river the winter wheat harvest is progressing satisfactorily. The conditions in the spring wheat section are, perhaps, not so ideal as they were a week ago, but they are good. The grain markets were weak and lower, and cotton sold off, reflecting speculative sentiment regarding the outlook for all the crops. This should count for higher prices for railroad stocks, and on the same side were the reports of traffic managers who are looking forward to a good business this summer and fall. The offsetting influence is the poor showing made of net earnings, even where there has been an improvement in gross earnings. Eighteen roads which have thus far reported net earnings for May show an average decrease of more than 15 per cent. The influence of easy money is offset by the reflection that money is accumulating because of lack of employment in industrial and commercial business. Very optimistic talk is heard of a turn in the boom market and of the improvement that is bound to take place during the last quarter of the year, but the optimists are not borrowing call or time money ranging from 1 to 3 per cent for the purpose of buying Steel preferred at a price that nets nearly 13 per cent, or Steel sinking fund bonds at a price that nets 6½ per cent. The impending Democratic national convention is another factor that is cited as admonishing the public to go slow in the market, and yet no one seriously doubts the success of the Republican ticket—certainly it is not in doubt at this stage of the campaign.

Call money was a shade firmer in New York, the closing loan being made at 1¼ per cent, but an advance of another fraction would not be unusual on the eve of the semi-annual settlement period.

The local stock market was as dull and narrow as that in Wall street, but not more so. Westinghouse Electric was firmer, but the rest of the list was either unchanged or a fraction lower. Ohio Fuel Supply declined to 37 after selling at 37½. Crucible Steel preferred relapsed into dullness, but closed lower at 35½ bid, 26¼ asked. Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Connellsville 5s sold at 99 and closed at that price bid, an advance of a half point.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The movement in Crucible Steel preferred came to a sudden halt yesterday when only 125 shares changed hands on the local board at 36 to 36¼. The closing bid was 35½. There were no dealings in the common, which closed at 4¼ bid, 4⅜ asked.

The natural gas stocks were a little easier. Ohio Fuel Supply declined to 37 and Manufacturers Light and Heat to 30½. A small lot of Philadelphia Company sold at 39.

There was an increase in the bidding on local bonds yesterday, but the only sale was $5,000 Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Connellsville 5s at 99, an advance, and that price was bid for more. There were no offerings under par.

There was not much doing in the coal stocks. Pittsburgh preferred sold at 57⅜ and was offered at that price at the close, with 57½ bid. River Coal preferred did not change hands, but closed at 21 bid, 21¾ asked.

Westinghouse Electric first preferred sold at 94, an advance of $4 from the last previous sale. The second preferred sold at 76⅝, rallied to 76⅞ and closed at 76⅝ bid.

An officer of Missouri Pacific says the outlook for crops throughout the territory tributary to the company's lines continues to improve. "If present promise can be realized," he said, "it is safe to say this road will make a big showing in earnings during the winter and spring. Business is ripe for another boom if grain turns out all right, and there are no surprises in the election."

The railroads have decided to restore the $3 per carload rate from Birmingham to Chicago on July 1, which was advanced to southern points in the Chicago market 20 cents a ton after that date. This comes as a surprise to the trade, for it would seem a most inopportune time for such action.

The officers and directors of the Franklin Savings and Trust Company of Pittsburgh will hold a reception tomorrow between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock in their new banking house at Penn avenue and Twenty-ninth street, to which friends and customers are invited.

New York bond houses are not looking forward to the July disbursements to increase the investment demand, although it seems to be the correct thing to say so nowadays. It is well within the mark to say that there has not been a single January or July in the past three years when the half yearly disbursements have made the slightest material difference in the demand for bonds good for savings banks or trustees is good, but the supply of these bonds at reasonable prices is exhausted. The only hope is that the public will be contented with something rather less select.

The directors of the First National bank of Allegany have declared a quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent, an extra cash dividend of 1 per cent of 6 per cent per annum, and carried a substantial amount to undivided profits. This action will be most gratifying to the stockholders, as it reflects the confidence of the management in the success of the bank and its ability to maintain such a distribution of profits in the future. Since the reorganization, all debts and accounts of bad or doubtful character have been charged out of the undivided profits, and the business of the bank is now on a better basis than ever before in its history. The business of the bank is developing in a very satisfactory manner. The residents and business people of Allegany and the shareholders of the First National bank, are to be congratulated on the bright prospects for the future of their oldest financial institution.

The board of directors of the Union National bank has made the quarterly dividend rate 10 per cent. For some time past the dividends have been 7½ per cent regular and 2½ per cent extra. The dividends are now made straight 10 per cent quarterly. In addition to this, the sum of $250,000 has been added to the surplus fund of the bank. Its responsibility is now: Capital, $500,000; surplus, $2,500,000; undivided profits, $140,000.

Messrs. Fisk & Robinson, managers of the syndicate which purchased the $52,000,000 New York city 3½s due in 1954, announced yesterday that the price of this issue has been advanced from 102¼ and interest to 102½ and interest. It is said that two-thirds of the bonds have already been sold.

Pittsburgh Oil and Gas directors have declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent, payable July 15 to stockholders of record on July 1. Books close June 30 and reopen July 16.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Colonial Trust Company yesterday, Mr. Edward O'Neill was elected a director of that institution.

Big Four directors declared the regular semi-annual dividend of 2 per cent on the common stock, payable September 1. Net earnings for the year ending June 30, partly estimated, were $4,542,077, a decrease of $379,254.

The Santa Fe's officials estimate the yield in Kansas at from 82,000,000 to 87,000,000 bushels, and in Oklahoma at from 23,000,000 to 25,000,000. Private advices reported no damage whatever from the recent rains in the harvest districts. Harvesting is now generally as far north as Southern Illinois and Southern Indiana.

In the Boston market Osceola Copper advanced on expectation of an increase in its dividend rate and declined sharply when the announcement of $1 was received.

The approaching triple holiday was widely credited with the paralysis of trading in Wall street yesterday. The term stagnant is hardly a figure of speech as applied to the securities market. Many stocks usually prominent were not dealt in at all and those which were drifted idly an eighth up or an eighth down. Very few stocks developed sufficient headway to clear the cost of a broker's commission on a turn.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

Greene Consolidated Copper Company directors have declared a dividend of 3 per cent, payable August 1.

According to the annual report of the United States assay office for Montana, just made, of the copper production for the state, the total for 1903 was 218,576,628 pounds, an increase over the previous year of 1,420,988 pounds, in spite of two months' shutdown of the Amalgamated mines during the year. The state's production of copper last year was worth $28,200,392. Its gold was valued at $4,070,496; its silver at $17,597,702, and lead $387,445; a total mineral output of $50,256,835, an increase over 1902 in value of 7 per cent. The value of the gold and silver in the Butte district last year amounted to $13,694,435.

A gentleman who can speak officially for the Utah Consolidated Company says: "The next dividend on Utah Consolidated will be $2. This has been practically decided upon by the directors, for it was the concensus of opinion at the recent meeting when the regular 1 per was declared, that with its enlarged smelter the company will have no difficulty in earning $2 in the second half of the year."

Practically every mine in the Black hills that was temporarily closed down on account of the flood a week ago has resumed operations. The damage to the mines and mills will be nominal.

Another dividend will be paid by the Spearfish company the first of the coming month. It will amount to one-half of 1 per cent, in all probability. The Spearfish company lost but two days during the recent rains and the cleanup for the half month was as large as any previous. The ore reserve in the Spearfish is becoming larger with every day's development.

It is stated that a proposition has been submitted to the Reliance Gold Mining Company by a well-known mining man at Terry, who represents London capital, to buy the entire holdings in Bald mountain of the company for a consideration of $500,000 in cash. It is stated further that the London expert has been over the Reliance company's ground for several days past and has made careful estimates of the amount of ore in reserve and that his report will corroborate the one made by John Blatchford last July, which placed the reserve close to 1,000,000 tons.

Another strike is reported in the Chuichahua mountains, near the town of San Simon, Ariz. This find is only one mile from the King of Lead mine, which J. M. Burk has just sold to a Montana capitalist for a big figure. This find is a lead ore, and carries large values in gold and silver and is located in what is called Wood canyon, 15 miles from San Simon station. A prospector who opened the vein brought in samples of the ore, which shows very high grade lead, running as high as 70 per cent lead and carrying gold and silver.

COAL PROPERTY BRINGS $65,000

New Local Company Buys 400 Acres and Options 2,000 Acres More.

EXCHANGE DEAL OF $40,000

A newly formed company of Pittsburgh capitalists, headed by a former official of the Glen Easton Coal Company, has purchased the property of the Ellis-Blum Coal Company in Butler county for $65,000. The property consists of about 400 acres of coal near Hilliard station on the Bessemer & Lake Erie railroad. The coal is known as the Clarion vein, four feet and of very good quality. At present the mine, which has been operated three years, has a daily capacity of 400 tons, but this will be greatly increased. The mine is well equipped, having rope haulage and modern mining machinery. Three double houses are included in the purchase. The new company has purchased another boiler and other machinery for the plant to make possible the development of a much larger tract which backs of the Ellis-Blum mine. Options have already been secured on this property, nearly 2,000 acres, and some of the deals have been closed. These deals will give the new company probably the finest available tract of coal land in Butler county, as most of the coal properties there are strongly held.

By an exchange of coal properties valued at $40,000, another Virginia plantation has passed into the hands of a local capitalist. Lewis Walker has purchased from A. C. Watkins 800 acres of land on the Southern railroad, about midway between Washington and Richmond, for $20,000. The property is under cultivation, most of it in tobacco, and has on it a large colonial brick mansion of the style peculiar to Virginia. The exchange gives the southern property Mr. Walker tendered a plot 100x145 feet in Northumberland street, near Beechwood boulevard. Twenty-second ward, valued at $12,000. Mr. Watkins will put 20 feet each in the Lincoln place allotment in Mifflin township, which were put into the deal at $8,000. It is understood that the Lincoln place lots will be improved at once. This is the third Virginia plantation sold to Pittsburgh parties within since April 1. Last year at least a dozen large Virginia properties were bought by Pittsburgh business and professional men for country homes. Some of these have been improved at a considerable expense to afford hunting and fishing preserves, while others have been put in charge of competent overseers and will be kept in a high state of cultivation.

Extension of Boundary Street.

The work of establishing the grade of Boundary street, from Neville street to Second avenue, has been completed and actual work on the extension will probably be started in July. The distance is about 10 squares and the property affected will cost the city a tidy sum, as all the deeds for the abutting properties show that the land wanted belongs to the owners of the street in fee simple. Last year, however, but no actual work was done and the street was closed up by property owners to prevent it being a nuisance. Recently the blockade which was in front of the M. M. Thompson property, opposite Oakland avenue, was removed at the instigation of the city officials, who paid for its cost. Considerable complaint is made about the new route of the street, as it will make a sharp angle where before it ran straight along the Junction railroad. The former right of way was given to the railroad and the new survey throws the street back close to the hillside. The grade, as established, is 10 feet below the railroad. When the street is extended it will afford the only good means of egress from the property to Second avenue, except to the Soho route, which is much longer. The properties which will be affected are within 400 feet of the "Tech" school site and only a few squares from the Atwood street car line. The frontage along the upper side of the street is valued at $25 a foot for residence purposes and would be worth even more for manufacturing sites. Among the larger property owners who will be paid for their holdings are M. M. Thompson, who will give up 30,000 square feet; Attorney Cochran Nevins, Councilman William Johns, J. Z. Speer and J. Hardie.

More Stubborn Than Ever.

At no time this year has the stubborn attitude of buyers and sellers been so evident as now. Offers that a year ago would have been freely entertained are now turned down with a suddenness that is surprising when it is remembered that the present market does not compare with that of 1903. Even where a reality broker succeeds in getting a proposition from buyer and seller, a difference of a small fraction of the price offered or asked stops the deal. Two instances of this kind came to notice yesterday. A fourth avenue broker has been working 10 days on a $75,000 deal in which the parties are only $1,000 apart. Neither will give in a particle and the only way to close the transaction, they say, is for the broker to give up $1,000 of his commission. In another deal a difference of $2,700 on a total valuation of $60,000 has hindered proceedings for a week, although one of the parties has offered to split the difference in the deal. The hard-fisted attitude of property owners who submit their properties for sale and when offered fully as much as they would have brought last week, deliberately reject the propositions, indicates that they are not hard pushed for funds, in spite of the frequent assertion to the contrary. Most of the properties on which deals are now pending do not pay 4 per cent net on the price asked and would-be buyers have little to encourage them from an income standpoint. It is surprising that under these conditions the inquiry for property continues so good and the fact that it does show the faith of persistent investors in the higher valuations that will inevitably follow the great improvements promised over the business section of the city.

Are Still on the Hunt.

The Italian Roman Catholics of Sharpsburg have submitted an offer of $25,000 for the Presbyterian church property in Main street. A meeting of the congregation will be held tonight to determine whether a sale shall be made. The Italians have been seeking a permanent location for several weeks and a few days ago were refused the German Lutheran church property, after which they had made an offer.

As showing the activity in residence properties, the sales made by John P. Rush during the past few days furnish an example. For Attorney John L. Ralph he sold to Victor Van Aichenbuse a six-room house on 30x100 feet in Mary street, Elliott, for $1,450; for Joseph A. Denan to Thomas Logan, a vacant lot in Chartiers avenue, West Pittsburgh, for $250; for Mrs. Rice a six-room house on the north side of Ward street, Windsor, Allegheny, for $2,000; for M. A. Baker an eight-room house and three lots in School street, McKees Rocks, for $700; for Thomas Logan, a six-room frame house on Ward street for sale small lot on Avenue Sheraden, for $1,600. The last property has been sold three times by Mr. Rush in seven weeks.

TO HAVE LONGEST WIRELESS SYSTEM

Navy Department Awards Contract for Five Circuits in West Indies.

GUARD AGAINST HOSTILITIES

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Admiral Manney, chief of the naval equipment bureau, today entered into agreement with Abraham White, president of the American De Forest Wireless Telegraph Company, for the acquisition by the navy of five of the longest wireless telegraph circuits in the world, two of them being over 1,000 miles in length. The navy has felt keenly the necessity of a wireless connection between its naval bases at Guantanamo, Culebra and Key West, realizing that in the event of hostility with a foreign power the existing cable system would be the first point of attack.

The necessity of protecting the canal zone has enlarged the problem of finding a secondary means of communication, and the general board has learned a lesson from the isolation of Port Arthur in the present war. Therefore, some time ago the equipment bureau began a series of competitive tests under the immediate direction of Lieut.-Commander Jayne, and the result was the arrangement today between Admiral Manney and White to sign a contract for the supply to the government of wireless instruments guaranteed to maintain reliable service on these circuits: Key West to Panama, 1,000 miles; Porto Rico to Key West, 1,000 miles; South Cuban coast to Panama, 720 miles; Pensacola to Key West, 450 miles; South Cuba to Porto Rico, 600 miles.

The service proposed is exceptional, in that the wireless currents must traverse not only the ocean, but deep over considerable islands, such as Cuba and Haiti, and in the latter case, and perhaps in others, run a risk of currents set up by apparatus on islands not part of the United States. The contracting company assumes full responsibility for the working of the system in such cases.

On its part the government agrees to operate in harmony with such stations as vessels now use the De Forest system, and this is said to extend to Panama. The government's instruments will be attuned to harmonize with those of the company to prevent interference. The navy will have the company's key, so the two may work interchangeably without the possibility of their messages being picked up or stolen or suppressed by vessels or stations equipped with other kinds of apparatus.

The enormous value of wireless telegraphy in naval operations, as revealed by Admiral Togo's last exploit off Port Arthur, has hastened the navy department to conclude this contract.

"THE AGE OF GRAFT" SAYS EX-JUDGE EWING

Made Annual Address Before Pennsylvania Bar Association at Cape May.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CAPE MAY, N. Y., June 28.—"It is the age of graft." In these words former Judge Nathaniel Ewing of Uniontown, Pa., summed up the condition of affairs which the lawyer in his private and professional life is expected to overcome and which was uttered by the jurist when he made his annual address to the Pennsylvania Bar association at the opening session this afternoon. The sessions are held at the Hotel Stockton and will last for three days, ending with a banquet Thursday night.

Among the judges present are Justice Brown of the supreme court, Judges Evans, Rodgers and Macfarlane of Pittsburgh.

Former Judge Ewing said that ethics, as applied to members of the bar or any one else, were essentially nothing but pure morals. "Lawyers are but men," he continued, "and are not exempt from the frailties of mankind. Their opportunities to transgress are numerous and their temptations great. No lawyer perfect in character and conduct ever was or is or ever will be. That he has been traduced and maligned by the ignorant, deceived and slandered by mobs and executed by monarchs only proves his prominence and power.

"But outside of and away from the court the difference in duty are greater. Because he is called upon to hear and justly to determine conflicting interests of every character, the judge should never be voluntarily put to the front or conspicuously interested in either political or prominent business matters. The right, if not, indeed, the duty of the attorney is directly otherwise. Great questions confront us. To whom, if the lawyer fails us, shall we turn for conservative influence and the proper solution of pending problems?"

AIRSHIP SLASHED.

Gas Bag of Santos Dumont's Flying Machine Cut Full of Holes and Delays Ascension.

ST. LOUIS, June 28.—Some time during the night the gas bag of Santos Dumont's airship was cut and slashed in such a manner as to preclude all possibility of its being repaired in time to allow an ascension on July 4. The work was apparently done with a jack knife. There are at least 26 long rips in the bag, and Professor Carl Meyers, who has charge of the aeronautic contests, declares it will take at least two weeks to repair the damage.

The big gas bag had not yet been taken from the crate in which it came from Paris. The cover had been removed by a customs inspector and the crate was rolled into the center of the big shed prepared for the airship. Being of an adhesive material, the bag was hung in folds from slats nailed near the top of the crate, and in this way prevented from becoming a solid mass because of its own weight. There were several folds of the bag over each slat and the vandal drew his knife across these.

MEN TO ACCEPT REDUCTION

Three conferences were held yesterday to fix wage agreements for workers who handle steel and tin products. One was between the Amalgamated association and the Independent Sheet and Tin Plate manufacturers; another between the Manufacturers' association and the Molders' International union, and the third between the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company and the tin house workmen's organization.

All three conferences failed to reach agreements and will meet again today. The manufacturers at each of the conferences are demanding a reduction from the wages paid last year. The Amalgamated association is being asked by the Independent sheet and tin plate manufacturers to accept 18 per cent reduction from the scale agreed upon a year ago, which is the same as the men are now working for. This reduction was made at an expanded conference of the mill workers last April, and is the same scale as the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company is demanding.

The Manufacturers' association is asking the molders to accept a reduction of 10 per cent from last year's scale. Yesterday was the second conference between the workmen and the representatives of the association. The conferences, two weeks ago, deadlocked in the wage question, when it was decided that the executive officials of the international union be called into the conference. The molders will abide by the agreement made at the present conference.

The same reduction is demanded of the tin house workers. This organization takes in all workmen in the finishing departments of the tin mills, and all men that do not handle the tin plates while they are hot.

The indications are the men will accept the reductions asked for by the manufacturers. To counterbalance the drop in wages, several concessions will be asked for by the workmen.

WILD MAN A FIGHTER.

Colored Giant Who Escaped Allegheny Police, Knocks Down Three Men.

The giant negro who has been haunting Highwood cemetery for the past two weeks and who was chased by a squad of policemen on Monday afternoon, turned up yesterday evening at West View. The report of his appearance was telephoned to Lieut. John Bolland at No. 3 patrol station by one of three men who endeavored to place the negro under arrest.

The men are agents for a land company, and met the wild man in the woods near the Ferrysville plank road. He was scantily clad, and as the agents had read of the break after the negro the day before, they decided to overpower him and notify the Allegheny police. The trio pounced upon the negro and, according to their own story, they were all roughly treated for their trouble, for the colored giant, after knocking them all down, ran swiftly back over the hill toward Riverview park.

TAYLOR TO RETIRE.

Postoffice Department's Chief Clerk Will Return to West Virginia.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Blaine W. Taylor of West Virginia, chief clerk of the postoffice department, will resign that office on July 1 to take effect August 20 and will be succeeded by Merritt C. Chance of Illinois, now chief of the division of postoffice supplies and recently private secretary to the secretary of war. Mr. Taylor is a Democrat. He has been chief clerk of the department since the beginning of the late William L. Wilson's administration as postmaster-general. Owing to the difference in politics the relations between the postmaster-general and his retiring chief clerk have not been close since the former assumed office. Mr. Taylor was tendered other places in the service paying salaries equal to that of chief clerk, but declined them. He will return to West Virginia.

Youngest Congressman Married.

But about health—you guess and say "Nonsense, coffee doesn't hurt me," but—

Have You Proved It?

You can if it's a fact and you're not afraid to look it squarely in the face by a ten days' shift to and leaving off coffee entirely. The trial involves no hardship or expense for you will find well-boiled Postum delicious, satisfying, and having the color and appearance of strong, black coffee with the flavor of the milder grades of Java.

You will prove something one way or the other, but don't be surprised if you suddenly feel as if a great weight had been lifted from you, for Postum in place of the drugs of coffee, will show you a taste of the joy of health and vigor, making you stronger and clearer in brain, muscle and nerves.

KNOX AND CORTELYOU BID GOODBY TO CABINET

President Expresses Regret at Losing Attorney General and Secretary.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Attorney-General P. C. Knox today attended his last cabinet meeting, as he leaves the department of justice on Thursday. There was very little business before the cabinet, and that was soon disposed of, after which good-byes were said by Mr. Knox and Secretary Cortelyou of the department of commerce and labor, whose resignation also takes effect on July 1.

President Roosevelt again took occasion to say that he regretted to lose the service in his cabinet of such competent men as Mr. Knox and Mr. Cortelyou, but he wished them success. Other members of the cabinet spoke feelingly of the severance of the close relations that have existed between them for so long, and Mr. Knox and Mr. Cortelyou replied in fitting terms.

On Friday the new members of the cabinet are all expected to be here to take the oath of office and to attend the meeting of the cabinet on that day. Secretary Moody will be sworn in as attorney-general, Paul Morton of Chicago will take up his duties as secretary of the navy and Victor Metcalf of California will be sworn in as secretary of the department of commerce and labor.

Attorney-General Knox has been working hard for the past few weeks clearing up the odds and ends in his department. Within two or three days he has passed upon more than 50 pardon cases. After leaving the cabinet he will take a rest, probably spending the greater part of the summer at his farm at Valley Forge.

Secretary Moody for the past few weeks has cut down the title of his cabinet position, will take up the duties of chairman of the Republican national committee. He will establish offices in the Arlington hotel here until August 1, after which his headquarters will likely be moved to New York. He will be entrusted with the big part of the campaign work. Mr. Cortelyou will take a vacation of several weeks at the suggestion of President Roosevelt.

During his absence the work of the committee will be in charge of Secretary Elmer Dover.

ART PRIZES AWARDED.

Bohemian Night at Stevenson's Studio—Prepared for Annual Exhibition and Reception.

The young artists who attend Stevenson's art school in Wood street were made happy yesterday when the judges announced their awards for the current year. Prizes in the form of a month's tuition at the school were generously distributed, and when the students and their friends assembled for the studio reception last night there was nothing to mar the pleasure of a true Bohemian night. The Latin quartier was transferred to Pittsburgh for the time being—with some modifications, of course. The annual exhibition and reception will be held this afternoon. The walls of the galleries have been adorned with hundreds of pretty and attractive pictures in honor of this event.

The judges were Mrs. Oscar Rodgers, Clarence Johns, Charles Walz and A. F. King. They spent the entire afternoon in examining the students' work and awarded prizes and honors as follows:

Kornhauser, prize, landscapes, Miss Beckwith, honorable mention; Mr. Kornhauser, No. 1; Miss Jessie White, No. 2; still life, Mr. Kornhauser, honorable mention; Albert Diethrick and Miss Nell Crider, No. 1; Charles Heusy, Mr. Kornhauser and Miss Crider, No. 2; life drawings, Mr. Diethrick, prize; Miss Crider, honorable mention; Mr. Heusy, No. 1.

Will be paid by the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. "For about two years I suffered from a very obstinate case of dyspepsia," writes R. H. Secord, Esq., of 15 Havern Ave., Toronto, Ontario. "I tried a great number of remedies without success. I finally lost faith in them all. I was so far gone that I could not for a long time bear any solid food in my stomach; felt melancholy and depressed. Some four months ago a friend recommended your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' After reading testimonial I had derived so much benefit that I continued the medicine. I have taken three bottles and am convinced it has in my case accomplished a permanent cure. I can conscientiously recommend it to the thousands of dyspeptics throughout the land."

A man can succeed and be strong if he heeds Nature's warnings. When there is indigestion, loss of appetite, ringing in the ears, dizziness, spots before the eyes or palpitation of the heart; any or all of these symptoms point to weakness and loss of nutrition. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the medicine to turn to.

"Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol and is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics. It is strictly a temperance medicine.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach.

Big Hotel in the Woods

Resort Inside the World's Fair Grounds, Surrounded by a Forest, Offers a Luxurious and Restful Retreat.

COMFORT AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

The comfort for the visitor to an exposition was never the subject for so much intelligent thought and preparation as it has been at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition at St. Louis.

One of the features that cannot fail to appeal to the visitor is the convenience and comfort afforded by the Inside inn, a structure of 2,257 rooms, covering an area of fourteen acres, wholly within the world's fair grounds.

Probably no hotel ever built commands a view so diversified or grand. From the wide verandas that surround the mammoth structure a wonderful panorama spreads before one. Many of the state buildings, with their giant and magnificent structures, present their most attractive facades. Some of the foreign buildings may be seen, and the forest of towers and turrets, domes and minarets, rising above the great exhibit palaces and seen through the forests of real trees that surround the hostelry, give token of the other glories that lie beyond.

Within a few minutes' walk of the Inside inn the visitor on the main terrace in front of Festival hall, the center of the "main picture" of the exposition, the grandest spectacle ever produced by man. Another five minutes' walk and the visitor can be found himself on Triumphal Way, the street of amusement, a full mile long, with the shows of all nations in gay and enticing array.

In the ten minutes' walk many of the most exquisite palaces have been passed. There reminise the largest and grandest collection of architectural triumphs ever assembled in any one place. Notwithstanding the close proximity to these scenes of gaiety and splendor, noise and confusion the Inside inn offers a delightful retreat. During the noon hour the visitor may retire for a brief rest and resume his delightful task of sight-seeing refreshed and all the more able to appreciate and enjoy the world's fair wonders.

The rates at this hotel within the grounds are no higher than those charged for hotels in the city. A good room may be had for $1.50 per day, including admission to the grounds, other rooms may be had up to $400 per day, according to the luxuries demanded. There is a restaurant in the building with a seating capacity for 2,500 persons.
